

Regional sprinkling ban, $500 fine recommended

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Shun annexation: Hanson

Panel urged to attract industry to village land

The new Industrial and Commercial Development Commission should concentrate on attracting industry to land within the village limits rather than annexing adjacent sites, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson recommended Tuesday.

Hanson urged commission members to become acquainted first with property owners who are willing to sell undeveloped land.

"Ferret out those who are willing to consider selling so you know which ones you can work with," he said.

Hanson discouraged the commission from attempting to annex adjacent land at this time.

"I WOULDN'T concentrate on the land that isn't incorporated, except maybe along Rand Road, because of the problem of providing utilities. The village isn't in the position to extend these right now," Hanson said.

"You've got enough properties zoned and ready to go without trying to encourage others to annex," he said.

It will be the commission's job to find industries interested in locating in Arlington Heights and then direct them to property owners willing to sell, Raymond H. Warns, commission chairman, said.

Hanson also recommended that the village not offer to sell industrial revenue bonds as an enticement for industries to build in Arlington Heights.

INDUSTRIAL REVENUE bonds are issued by a municipality at a low interest rate, but paid for by the business for which they are issued.

The village's financial experts have advised against issuing industrial revenue bonds, Hanson said.

"If anything went wrong, it would be a mark against the village," he said.

'Magic number' passed for Carter nomination

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter.

The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support

Three treated, released after car-truck crash

A truck crashed into the rear of a car at Palatine Road and Windsor Drive Tuesday morning, but occupants of the auto escaped serious injury, Arlington Heights police reported.

Police said a car driven by Susan G. Stancil, 19, of 472 W. Green, Palatine, was eastbound on Palatine Road slowing for a stoplight at 10:57 a.m. when a truck driven by James R. Kocimski, 37, of Onalaska, Wis., struck the car.

Arlington Heights paramedics transported Ms. Stancil and her two passengers to Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, police said.

Ms. Stancil reportedly complained of dizziness. Mattie Johnson, 57, of 1209 Sunset, Arlington Heights, and Ms. Stancil's 12-year-old brother, Frank, reportedly were shaken by the crash.

The three were treated and released. Kocimski escaped injury. No tickets were issued.

Financial policies topic of meeting

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson today will discuss the future financial policies and outlook of Arlington Heights with the fiscal policy planning committee.

The meeting, open to the public, will be at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The committee, first proposed by former Village Pres. Ralph Clabour, is charged with studying the long term financial commitments of the village and its ability to meet them.

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

THIS MARY Hartman lives in Schaumburg, Ill., not the fictitious Fernwood, Ohio.

Liquor stores circulating petitions

Seek repeal of county home-rule

by WANDALYN RICE

Petitions calling for repeal of Cook County's home-rule power are quietly being circulated by liquor stores, The Herald has learned.

If successful, the petition drive will result in a referendum on November's election ballot to strip the county of the power it used to impose the county liquor tax last year and to propose the employee head tax last week.

Cook County Board Pres. George W. Dunne said Tuesday the petition drive is a "vindictive act" by the liquor dealers.

THERE HAS BEEN no public announcement of the petition effort, which must get 143,000 signatures by Aug. 16 to place the repeal referendum on the November ballot. In addition, officials of the Illinois Liquor Stores' Assn. Tuesday either denied any support of the move or declined comment.

However, several liquor store operators and an official of Famous Industries, parent company for Famous Liquor stores, indicated to The Herald the petition drive is in fact backed by the association.

Howard Schwarzbach of the firm said those stores do have the petitions, but said, "All statements about this must be made by the liquor stores' association." Schwarzbach, a member of the association board of directors, said, "I'm not able to answer questions because I don't want to violate my agreement with other directors."

Morton Siegal, executive director of the association, denied that the association is behind the petition drive. A B. Dobkin, of Palatine, president of the association, declined comment on the petition drive, saying any comment is "premature. We don't have a feel for it yet."

THE PETITIONS HAVE been placed on check-out counters in liquor stores. Operators of Famous, Foremost and Armanetti stores in the Northwest suburbs said they received copies of the petitions from their main offices.

The liquor association has been considering a home-rule referendum since last summer when the county imposed the county liquor tax with its home-rule power. The association failed in attempts to overturn the tax in a case which went to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The County liquor tax is $1 per gallon on liquor, four cents per gallon on beer, 12 cents per gallon on wine of 14 per cent alcohol or less and 30 cents per gallon on wine with more than 14 per cent alcohol.

Other business groups and some suburban officials have discussed a possible home-rule referendum in the past week since the county proposed a $3 a month employee head tax to be levied on all county business. Officials of the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry said Tuesday they are aware of the liquor dealers' petition but have not decided whether to support it.

DUNNE SAID he believes officials of the Illinois Liquor Stores' Assn. are trying to keep their support of the petition drive secret because "They don't want a stigma placed on it." He said, "Liquor is the scourge of humanity — it's a greater narcotic than heroin and it ill behooves such an industry to support something like this (the petition drive)."

Dunne said the petition is vindictive because even if the county is stripped of home rule, the tax will not be repealed.

"The only thing they are doing is hurting the government of Cook County," he said.

Dunne said it is possible the petition drive might succeed because "people will sign any petition and the voters could very well be deceived into thinking all home rule means is new taxes."

Teen found guilty in murder of girl

A Lake County jury Tuesday evening found Frank Slago III, 17, of Libertyville, guilty of murdering Kimberly Muno, a 16-year-old Libertyville High School student. Miss Muno's partially clothed, frozen body was found Jan. 3 in a creekbed on Hanlon Road near Lakehurst in Waukegan. She had been missing since leaving work at the Hawthorn Shopping Center the night before. Slago was arrested Jan. 4 and charged with the murder. Slago wept as Sheriff's deputies led him away from the Waukegan courtroom shortly after the verdict of the seven-man five-woman jury was announced at 8:15 p.m. Sentencing has been set for July 15. Defense Attorney Michael Boyd said he will file a motion for a new trial. The jury deliberated 14 hours Monday and Tuesday before reaching a verdict at 5:55 p.m.

Grand jury to probe bombings

The Cook County Grand Jury will investigate the recent bombings of suburban restaurants and the Arlington Park Theatre. State's Atty. Bernard Carey said the grand jury will "try to pin down a specific motive and pattern" of blasts that recently rocked the Pickwick House, 10 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, LeGourmet Restaurant, 500 Rand Rd., Wheeling Township, and the Arlington Park Theatre, part of the Arlington Park Race Track-Hilton Hotel complex in Arlington Heights. Two other suburban restaurants, in Lisle and Bridgeview, were bombed in the early morning hours of May 12 about 90 minutes before the Pickwick House blast. In March, Le Gourmet was hit by a pipebomb that damaged walls, a ceiling and furniture. In April, a bomb destroyed a light-control panel at the Arlington Park Theatre. Carey said "hard evidence" turned up by his office and other investigating agencies is "enough to start this investigation." He said the grand jury will attempt to determine if organized crime played a role in the attacks.

FBI bomb hunt given high priority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director Clarence J. Kelley said Tuesday more than a dozen firms receiving letter bombs in the last 48 hours were on a list of about 200 corporations which have gotten extortion demands for "millions of dollars" since last fall.

Kelley said the FBI has launched a nationwide "high priority" investigation into the source of the bombs, including one which injured four persons in New York Monday, in hope of stopping "what could be a very bad and fearful situation."

He told a news conference the series of letter bombs appeared to be part of an extortion program which began last fall. He said with only one exception all of the 13 bombs which have been reported so far had gone to corporations which received extortion letters.

The FBI director did not identify the exception nor specify the wording of the extortion threats. FBI sources said one warned "we shall kick corporate asses until there is nothing left to kick."

The letters included photographs of individual corporation executives marked as targets.

Most of the extortion demands and letter bombs have been postmarked either from Atlanta, Tex., or Texarkana, Tex., in the northeast corner of the state, Kelley said.

Kelley said he called the news conference to appeal for anyone receiving possible letter bombs or having information in the case to contact authorities.

Displaying a replica of one of the letters, he said the explosives appeared to be "low order in nature."

"Extreme caution should be taken in the event letters of this type are received," Kelley said.

The FBI director said the Secret Service, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Bureau of the Justice Department, postal authorities and local law enforcement agencies are also participating in the search for the source of the bombs.

He would give no immediate indication whether the FBI knew who was involved or how much money the extortionists were demanding.

A new letter bomb, similar to those mailed to the other corporations, was opened at the offices of the Combined Insurance Co. of American in suburban Worthington outside Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday but did not explode.

"Evidently it just failed to go off," said Capt. Marion Alex of the Worthington Police Department. "At this point I have no idea why it didn't go off. It was opened. It should have gone off, but didn't."

One of the bombs exploded Monday in the Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith brokerage house in New York.

A mailroom employee, Mileta Phillips, 50, was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with severe cuts on her arms. Three co-workers standing nearby suffered minor cuts.

The other bombs, some mailed to executives' homes, either failed to explode or were disarmed.

The FBI said the letter bombs were contained in manila envelopes either 8 by 12 inches or 10 by 13 inches, about three-quarters of an inch thick. The devices — explosives wired to nine-volt batteries — were set to explode when opened.

In Washington, Postal Inspector P. G. Coe said that because of privacy restrictions, the Post Office Department does not screen any mail.

"If you're suspicious at all, don't open it, call us, we'll bring portable X-ray equipment to you," he said.

"There is no possible way we can anticipate bombs, but once a pattern develops, we alert potential recipients," Coe said.

Carter delegates over the top for first ballot win

to Carter, some said they preferred Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California as the last hope to stop the Georgian. A few George Wallace delegates remained firm behind the Alabama governor, saying Carter was too liberal for them.

With his nomination assured, Carter vacationed on Sea Island, Ga. Earlier he told reporters that when elected he would move immediately to bring welfare reform and national health insurance and would move more slowly on his programs of tax reform and government reorganization.

On the Republican side, Ford and Reagan looked to the Iowa, Washington and Delaware conventions this weekend which pick a total of 91 delegates. Ford was favored to win most or all 17 Georgia delegates, while Reagan seemed assured of getting at least 32 in Washington and perhaps all 38.

The big GOP battle ground will be in Iowa, where both Ford and Reagan will address the state convention this weekend in an effort to woo the 36 delegates at stake.

A poll of the previously uncommitted West Virginia Republican delegation showed 19 delegates committed or leaning to Ford and nine supporting Reagan.

The survey showed all 33 West Virginia Democratic delegates leaning to Carter. They were released last week by favorite son Robert Byrd, the Senate Democratic whip.

"I don't know anybody in the West Virginia delegation who doesn't like Carter," West Virginia Democratic Chairman J. C. Dillon told UPI. "He is very acceptable to our state."

"Carter has it sealed up," said Pennsylvania State Democratic Chairman Dennis Thieman. He said in addition to the 68 delegates Carter won in the primary, the Georgian now has picked up 40 more and eventually will have the support of most of those in Pennsylvania.

"I just don't see the Pennsylvania delegation going in any other direction," he said.

Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon of Puerto Rico endorsed Carter and said 15 Commonwealth delegates would support him as soon as they are formally released by Sen. Henry Jackson.

The tally did not include any new delegates from Indiana, where Democrats met in state convention. However, State Democratic Chairman Bill Trisler said that almost all of the 75 Indiana delegates could be counted in the Carter column.

In Washington, meantime, the Democratic Party platform committee, in a "tremendous spirit of party unity," disposed of most of the controversial domestic issues before it harmoniously.

It approved for inclusion in the final platform to be presented to the Democratic National Convention next month planks that call for:

- Financing national health insurance through an employer-employee payroll tax in addition to general revenues.

- Providing "income maintenance" for the poor and requiring able bodied welfare recipients to accept work in a welfare program "substantially financed by the federal government."

- Extending full pardons to Vietnam war resisters and treating deserters on a case-by-case basis.

Energy and foreign policy issues were to be taken up in later sessions as the committee met through Wednesday.

Troops extend occupation

Syrians close to Israeli border

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian armored columns struck South Tuesday, extending their occupation of southern Lebanon to within 2½ miles of the Israeli frontier, western journalists reported from the area.

The Syrian advance took them to within sight of Israeli border guardposts in their southern drive in which they captured more leftist outposts including the Crusader castle of Belfort from Palestinian defenders.

Even as the Syrian forces pushed further South, Arab League secretary general Mahmoud Riad met outgoing Lebanese President Suleiman Frangieh and won his approval for a pan-Arab peace-keeping force to replace the Syrian troops.

Riad said Frangieh still supported the Syrian intervention but also accepted the Arab League resolutions "because they constitute a joint Arab initiative."

Libyan Premier Maj. Abdel Salam Jalloud met with Lebanese President-elect Elias Sarkis and Palestinian and Moslem leftist leaders and reiterated that the pan-Arab force "will only be symbolic and not combat troops."

A military communique issued by the joint Moslem leftist-Palestinian command said the Syrians attacked the Moslem village of Kamed al-Lawz, 31 miles southeast of Beirut, and captured a nearby leftist supply depot after "heavy battles."

Western reporters in the area said the Syrians overran leftist defenders from the Bekaa Valley town of Marj'Uyun and sent a column of troops south.

Israeli frontier guardposts and radio installations were clearly visible from the road where Syrian trucks, jeeps and armored cars ferried troops and supplies to new positions near the 12th century castle of Belfort-a tress guarding the Arkoub mountain passes since Crusader days.

The advance brought the Syrians all the way to the Litani River — thought by some diplomats and observers to be the "red line" across which any Syrian move would bring a military response from Israel. But Israeli leaders have recently indicated the "red line" was as much political as geographical.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin warned Israel "cannot be indifferent to what is happening" in Lebanon. Rabin said Israel is watching the situation in Lebanon "hour by hour."

Viking should land on Mars July 4

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Viking 1 Robot spacecraft should land on Mars July 4 as scheduled despite a pesky helium leak that forced some timetable changes for the next few days, Project Manager James Martin said Tuesday.

The big probe, packed with life detection sensors and other instruments, switched onto its final course toward the red planet without difficulty with a brief firing of its main engine. It is to swing into orbit around Mars Saturday.

The maneuver Tuesday was not originally planned, but was ordered to lower pressure that was building up in the spacecraft's propellant tanks as a result of a leaking helium valve.

Martin said the spacecraft would rendezvous with Mars about six hours later than planned. Its initial orbit will take it almost twice as long to circle Mars as planned, but Martin said Viking would be back on its original timetable June 21.

Viking 1, which represents a $500 million investment, Tuesday was 600,000 miles from Mars, traveling toward the planet at 6,100 miles per hour.

"Everything is normal," Martin said. "The maneuver was performed as expected. We have a very obedient robot."

Mao will see no more foreign visitors

- The Chinese Communist Party's Central Committee said Tuesday Chairman Mao Tse-tung will no longer receive foreign visitors because he "is well advanced in years" and "busy." Mao has rarely missed meeting visiting heads of state. The announcement raised speculation that Mao may be seriously ill. His health has been deteriorating in recent weeks and visits with foreign guests already had been reduced to only a few minutes.

Albert will move for delay in Hays ouster decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Carl Albert said Tuesday he will move to delay a decision on whether to oust ailing Rep. Wayne Hays, accused of keeping a mistress on the government payroll, as chairman of the House Administration Committee.

Albert, talking with reporters on Capitol Hill, also said he disagreed with suggestions that Rep. Allen Howe, D-Utah, charged with soliciting two police decoy prostitutes in Salt Lake City, give up his seat for the good of the Democratic party.

Hays is recovering at a hospital in Barnesville, Ohio, from an overdose of sleeping pills last week. Hospital administrator James Peters reported: "He looks kind of bedraggled, but he's coming along pretty good. He should be released some time this weekend."

Attorneys for Howe in Salt Lake City won a delay in the congressman's arraignment on the soliciting charges, and said Howe will not announce a decision on his political future until he returns to Utah from Washington later this week.

City Judge Paul Grant agreed to put off the Howe arraignment until Monday after Atty. D. Frank Wilkins told him, "We expect the congressman, I mean Allan Howe, to return here to Salt Lake City this week and want a delay so we can consult with him."

Another Howe attorney, Democratic national committeeman Wayne L. Block, said "I expect him to make his decision known before the end of the week."

As for a resolution calling for removing Hays as administration committee chairman, Albert said he would move in the House Democratic caucus Wednesday to put off action until next week.

In another development, a spokesman for the House Ethics Committee said the panel has not yet received a formal request to investigate Rep. John Young, D-Tex., accused by Colleen Gardner last week of requiring sex from her when she worked for him.

Also in Washington:

- The National Park Service confirmed it provided an electrical line to the houseboat of former Rep. Kenneth Gray, D-Ill., a onetime employer of Elizabeth Ray who accused Hays of keeping her on the payroll solely for sex.

- President Ford made his first public comments on Washington morality since the scandal broke. In a prepared speech to the Southern Baptist convention in Norfolk, Va., Ford said: "Public officials have a special responsibility for others to follow — in both their private and public conduct."

- Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson quoted a Virginia woman Tuesday as saying she engaged in sexual relations with Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. after seeking his help on a personal problem. The Virginia Independent was not immediately available for comment but he was quoted in the Anderson column as saying the woman is "totally wrong about the seduction." The columnist said the woman told him she was desperate and emotional when she went to the senator and, "He spoke soothingly to her, took her hand and made sexual advances."

Target of letter bomb nearly blew it

Roger Pech, 31, nearly proved that a little knowledge can be dangerous. Pech, the manager of a Chicago furniture store, Monday became the mistaken recipient of one of a dozen letter bombs (see Page 3) received across the country. Before arriving home, Pech said he and a friend "caught a little bit" on the news about the letter bombs and how most had Texarkana, Tex., postmarks. Pech said he found a manila envelope in his mailbox, looked at the postmark and then joked, "Here's this big bulky package from Texarkana, Tex." Pech tossed the package about on the elevator ride to his apartment. "At one point, it bounced off the wall and hit the floor," Pech said.

His friend, however, was concerned, and scooted away from the envelope when the two men got off the elevator. Just to goad his friend, Pech opened the envelope and pulled out two pieces of cardboard . . . a lot of wires, a transistor radio battery, some copper stripping and a switch. Police bomb and arson experts disarmed the explosive. The letter bomb was one of three received in the Chicago area.

The second Chicago area letter was sent to Beatrice Foods in Chicago. A third bomb was sent to the headquarters of McDonald's Systems Inc. in Oak Brook, addressed to McDonald's Pres. Fred L. Turner.

Woman charged in cop killing

A Lake Bluff woman who held off police from her home for three hours was charged with murder and attempted murder Tuesday in the death of a Lake County Sheriff's policeman and the wounding of another officer. Virginia Piggott, 51, a retired Woman's Army Corps officer, was arraigned on the charges and ordered held without bond in the Lake County jail.

The policeman, Gary Murphy, 29, Waukegan, died in Lake Forest Hospital, at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday, after being shot in the groin. A second officer, David Greene, 23, Mundelein, was shot in the left arm and hospitalized. Lake County Sheriff E. J. LaMagdeleine said the trouble started at about 8 p.m. Monday when authorities received a report a woman had fired a .38 caliber handgun out the window of her home at a group of children at Lake Bluff West Elementary School. The children were not injured in the shooting which apparently stemmed from an argument the woman had with the children over a dog, authorities said. The woman fired on the first officers to arrive and police surrounded the house.

Eye-care probe called waste

Public Aid Director James L. Trainor Tuesday accused the state legislative Advisory Committee on Public Assistance of wasting state money by investigating eye-care specialists his department already investigated. Trainor said the committee has "wasted resources in investigating something public aid has already taken action on."

The committee issued a report Monday charging 16 optometrists, opticians and optical supply houses of cheating the department by fraudulent billing in the state's Medicare system. Joel Edelman, executive director of the committee, said Trainor "doesn't have investigative facts to come forth with the names." Trainor said the department suspended six of the investigated 16 eye-care specialists May 14, prohibiting them from taking Medicare patients. Trainor has refused to name those under investigation.

Illinois briefs

State called major market for heroin

Mexican heroin has largely taken over the Illinois market in the past five years and much of that traffic is funneled through Aurora, the Illinois Legislative Investigating Commission said in a report released Tuesday. The report is the result of a request by the legislature that the ILIC investigate charges printed in the Chicago Sun-Times and the Aurora Beacon-News that a large Mexican-based heroin organization is operating in northern Illinois.

"What the commission found during its six months' investigation overwhelmingly supports the allegations cited" by the newspapers, the report said. "The commission found considerable evidence to verify that there is a 'Mexican Connection' here in northern Illinois — persons and families involved in both the production and trafficking of heroin," the report said. "This is one of the main reasons why northern Illinois is not merely an area of heroin consumption, but an area of significant heroin distribution as well." Although the city's police chief denies it, the report said, "All available intelligence indicates that Aurora is a primary city of illegal drug distribution for Chicago and many smaller cities in Illinois. There is also considerable heroin activity between Aurora and Detroit."

Rail fund bill passes House

The House Tuesday passed and sent to Gov. Daniel Walker a bill (S1976) to pay Amtrak and the Rock Island Lines $1.1 million to keep six runs from Chicago going. The legislation was required because state Comptroller George Lindberg concluded he had no authority under Illinois law to issue checks to the railroads to cover the state's share of their subsidy. As a result, Amtrak and the Rock Island said they would halt the six runs if the state doesn't pay by June 30. The bill technically spends no money but allows Lindberg to release the funds he has held up. The vote was 139-3.

ERA hard sell planned

The president of a new Equal Rights Amendment group said Tuesday her organization plans to "run ERA just like a statewide candidate" in an effort to get Illinois ratification for the amendment this year. The new group, ERA Illinois, is a bipartisan coalition of over 50 organizations, including political, labor and education groups, according to its president, Mrs. Doris Conant. She said the organization has rented offices in downtown Chicago and plans to hire fulltime professional staff members to help with organization and planning.

"We intend to wage a serious and thoughtful campaign to tell the truth about ERA and what it means to both men and women, through advertising, distribution of printed materials, lobbying and personal contact with citizens," she said. The effort, she said, "will be as expensive as any campaign to run a statewide candidate. We're going to run ERA just like a statewide candidate."

Six killed in flash fire

A flash fire that engulfed the upper floor of a house Tuesday in Hoyleston killed six members of a family gathered for an infant's first birthday party. Firemen believed a faulty electrical connection in the attic may have set off the fire which was reported at 2:25 a.m. in this Washington County town of 500.

The dead were identified as Carl Mauck, 33, a welder for the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad in Centralia; his wife, Patricia, 33; their daughters, Julie, 14, and Amy Jo, 1; Mauck's mother, Mrs. Naomi Mauck, 67, Hudson, and Mrs. Mauck's mother, Mrs. Kathryn Jackson, 64, Bloomington. The only survivor was a son, Timothy Carl Mauck, 10, who was sleeping on the ground floor of the two-story wood frame house.

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest. "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago

Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Gifted program before Dist. 23

Implementation of a program for gifted students for the 1976-77 school year will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. today by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 Board of Education.

Alternative proposals to provide for the education of the district's gifted students were distributed to board members by Assistant Supt. Gerald McGovern last week.

McGovern and the administration had been requested by the board in May to draw up plans for a gifted program that would provide the most services for the least amount of district funds.

The board was informed last month that the district had cut back on training teachers to instruct gifted children when state funding for the gifted program was cut in October.

Board members said they mitted to a district gifted program and wanted to consider some alternatives the district could afford.

The meeting will be held at the district office, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights.

Grand jury to investigate cafe, theater bombings

The Cook County Grand Jury will investigate the recent rash of bombings of suburban restaurants and the Arlington Park Theatre.

Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey said Tuesday the grand jury will "try to pin down a definite motive and pattern" of blasts that rocked the Pickwick House restaurant 10 N. Northwest Hwy. Palatine, LeGourmet Restaurant, 500 Rand Rd., Wheeling Township, and the Arlington Park Theatre, part of the Arlington Park Race Track Hilton Hotel complex in Arlington Heights.

Two other suburban restaurants, in Lisle and Bridgeview, were bombed in the early morning hours of May 12 about 90 minutes before the Pickwick House blast.

In March, LeGourmet was hit by a pipebomb that damaged walls, ceiling and furniture.

ABOUT A month later the theater, then plagued with management troubles, was the scene of a bombing that destroyed a light control panel. Investigators said there was evidence that the hanging ceiling of the theater was sabotaged and a fire had been set, but failed to spread.

Carey said "hard evidence" turned up by his office and other investigating agencies is "enough to start this investigation."

The investigation will attempt to determine what role, if any, organized crime elements had in the attacks.

Carey said witnesses provided a license number of a car seen speeding away from two of the May explosions. He said the license number has been traced to man with links to organized crime.

Previous investigations into the blasts spawned reports that mobsters were attempting to force their way into the restaurant business. Avenues of possible mob involvement include unions, linen service and food and liquor suppliers, investigators said.

LINKS BETWEEN the bombings of LeGourmet and the Arlington Park Theatre were examined earlier because of the close personal relationship between David Lonn, former theater producer, and the owners of the restaurant.

Carey said the grand jury investigation will focus on possible "common relations" in all the attacks.

An aide to Carey said the action of the State's Attorney's office does not rule out the possibility of a federal grand jury also investigating the bombings.

CB radio patrol organizational meeting tonight

An organizational meeting of the Neighborhood Watch Citizens Band Radio Patrol will be at 8 p.m. today at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Deputy Chief Paul Buckholz of the police department said Trustees Robert H. Miller, chairman of the Zero-Vandalism Commission will speak at the meeting. A slide presentation on the police department communication center also will be shown.

The Neighborhood Watch program was organized to combat vandalism and other crimes in the village by providing the police with "an extra set of eyes and ears" through citizen involvement, Buckholz said.

The increasing popularity of the Citizens Band radio is hoped to be incorporated into an expanded residents' participation program, he said.

Homeowners' organizations and Citizens Band radio operators who previously expressed an interest in the project were invited to the meeting, Buckholz said.

Some gains for suburbs in school-aid bill changes

by STEVE BROWN

The Illinois Senate Education Committee made additional changes to the school-aid formula revision bill Tuesday.

Suburban school districts would derive some benefits from the amendments to the bill, which was originally drafted by State Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie, but the real winners apparently are the Chicago public schools.

Jaffe's bill, approved by the Illinois House last week, was drafted initially to help school districts with declining enrollment, but amendments would delay immediate help to the suburbs and actually reduce the amount of state aid most suburban districts received next year.

THE NEW BENEFITS to suburban schools would:

- Liberalize the tax rate rollback provisions, and
- Reduce the tax rate districts must have to qualify for maximum state school aid.

An elimination of the tax rate rollback was tacked onto Jaffe's bill in the house.

The current school-aid formula requires school districts to reduce their tax rates in proportion to the amount of state aid received.

The new amendments will drop that reduction requirement and allow school districts to raise their tax rates above the present legal limit with the approval of voters. Most suburban districts are at or near the limit.

A second potential benefit to suburban elementary districts approved by the committee lowers the qualifying tax rate elementary school districts must attain to receive the maximum amount of state aid. The qualifying rate was dropped from $1.95 to $1.92. More suburban districts would be made eligible for increases in state aid because they are near the $1.92 level.

THE MOST controversial amendment attached to the bill was a move by State Sen. Michael Brady, D-Chicago, to lessen the penalty on Chicago schools for closing 16 days early this year.

State law presently requires Chicago to repay $55 million for closing early. However, a plan was presented by Brady to allow Chicago to avoid $20 million in repayments this year. The money will be subtracted from the amount of state aid Chicago would have received if the school-aid formula were fully funded. The formula was not fully funded and Chicago never got the $20 million.

Further credits would be given to Chicago over the next five years against additional funds that city schools would have received if the school-aid formula were fully funded.

"It is a very clever device," said State Sen. Bradley Glass, R-Northbrook, a member of the Senate Education Committee.

Observers noted the Brady plan would allow Chicago to avoid repaying the actual cash it already has received by deducting it from an imaginary amount the city schools never expected to receive this year.

The same situation would continue until the entire $55 million is erased.

Help stop Busse Woods rowdies

by DAVE IBATA
Northwest suburban and county police officials Tuesday called for citizen participation in keeping rowdies out of Busse Woods in Ned Brown Forest Preserve.
Young persons have harassed picnickers, destroyed forest preserve property, and bought, sold and used stolen goods and narcotics in Busse Woods because "everybody's scared to death of these people, and they know it," said Lt. Frank Braun, of the Cook County Sheriff's police.
"Until citizens come forth to sign complaints and identify felons in court, rowdies will continue to believe they can cause trouble without fear of the law," Braun said.

A meeting of area officials to discuss drug, vandal and juvenile problems at Busse Woods, near Elk Grove Village, was held Tuesday afternoon in the Elk Grove Village Municipal Building.
POLICE AND VILLAGE officials from Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, and representatives of the Cook County Sheriff's police, the county board, the forest preserve district, the state's attorney's office and the Illinois State police attended the meeting.
Chief Richard Sloan of the forest preserve rangers told the meeting his men have the 3,082 acres in Busse Woods under control.
The forest preserve has been the target of a crackdown against rowdy persons and traffic in stolen goods and narcotics. Sloan said rangers have arrested 461 persons during the past four weeks at Busse Woods on charges ranging from illegal parking to heroin possession.
Virginia Hayter, village president of Hoffman Estates, urged police to maintain order in the forest preserve.
CITIZENS, MRS. HAYTER said,

Pikarsky backs public probe of RTA operation

Milton Pikarsky, chairman of the Regional Transportation Authority, has endorsed a public inquiry into RTA operations to quell the ongoing controversy over management of the agency.
Pikarsky said he believes the inquiry will show the RTA is functioning well, despite charges by four suburban board members that Pikarsky is mismanaging the agency.
The four have threatened to block passage of the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 unless Pikarsky resigns.
THE INQUIRY was proposed by the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry, which offered to recommend the names of three management consulting firms.
"The association urges that the fiscal year 1977 budget be adopted and the status quo on the RTA act be maintained," Pikarsky said, referring to efforts in the Illinois General Assembly to limit the chairman's power.
"As chairman of the RTA, I support the concept of the CACI proposal," Pikarsky said he will call for the RTA board to appropriate funds for this study at a board meeting today, but expressed doubts that action would be taken by the board before the current budget expires.
Stating that the study deserves "immediate attention and quick action," Pikarsky suggested that the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry select a team to study the RTA.

"From among its membership, the association could select a team of hard-headed businessmen from the city and suburbs with specialties in finance, personnel, planning, transportation and administration to examine the operations of the authority and publicly report their findings," he said.
The RTA board is scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. today at 300 N. State St., Chicago, to award a contract for leasing tires.

Need some tips for traveling? Try the RTA

When you know where you're going, but don't know how to get there, call the Regional Transportation Authority's new travel information center.
The center, scheduled to go into effect June 22, will provide information on bus and train schedules, routes and stops 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The center also will have information about city and suburban transportation systems and transfer points.
The new center is an expansion of the present Chicago Transportation Authority service, which began operation in 1974.
To reach the center, call 800-972-7000 from the suburbs or 836-7000 from Chicago.

Terri L. Hayford

Services for Terri Lynn Hayford, 6, of Hoffman Estates, will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday in St. Paul United Church of Christ, 144 E. Palatine Rd., Palatine. The body will lie in state in the church from noon until time of service. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery, Arlington Heights. She died Tuesday in Misericordia Home, Chicago.

Survivors include her parents, Ralph E. and Linda V. Hayford; sister, Kimberly Deanne Hayford; and grandparents, Lillian (the late Robert) Hayford and Gordon and Martha Verba.

Visitation will be from 2 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 330 W. Golf Rd., Schaumburg. Memorials may be made to Misericordia Home, 2916 W. 47th St., Chicago.

Phyllis Anderson

Services for Phyllis A. Anderson, 51, of Buffalo Grove for nine years, will be at 10 a.m. today in St. Edna Catholic Church, 2525 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. Burial will be in Willow Lawn Memorial Park Cemetery, Half Day.

She died Sunday at St. Bernard Hospital, Chicago.

Survivors include her husband, Leo S.; daughters, Kathleen O'Hara, Kristi A., Elizabeth J. and Janet L. Anderson; sons, Thomas S. and Michael L. Anderson; sisters, Vern Hanson, Frances Fox, Margery Doherty, Barbara Doherty and Judy Kornstad; brothers, Thomas, James and Henry Doherty; and father, Harvey Doherty.

Arrangements are being handled by Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. There will be no visitation. Family requests, masses appreciated.

Eleanor Casperson

A private service and interment for Eleanor L. Casperson, 52, of Rolling Meadows, will be today.

She died Monday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights. A resident of Rolling Meadows for 21 years, she was employed as a file clerk for Illinois Bell Telephone Co., with 14 years of service.

Survivors include her husband, Eugene V.; daughters, Renee Casperson and Cher Rooke; brothers, Howard Wallace and Grant Thomas; and sisters, Grace Rose, Ruth Wright and Helen Rimkus.

Arrangements were made by Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 201 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine. There will

'Declare independence' Hartigan tells seniors

A "declaration of independence" for senior citizens — and the awareness to carry it out — were urged Tuesday by Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan to nearly 100 participants in a Harper College Conference on Aging.

Hartigan addressed the senior citizens as part of a day-long conference held at Rolling Meadows High School, and his remarks centered on the need for older citizens to "decide your own priorities and change all the good will into results."

"I've never seen so many people say, 'we're all for senior citizens,' but we don't have the capacity to get things done as you can," Hartigan said. "The best advocates for senior citizens are yourselves."

Hartigan said since his term of office began in 1973, 37 bills pertaining to senior citizens were introduced at the state level, but only 3 passed, due in part to a lack of awareness and involvement by seniors.

HE SAID WHILE $38 million had been paid out to seniors through a state sales tax relief program, another $119 million from a real estate tax relief and supplementary income programs went back into the general fund because few eligible citizens applied.

"The 1.6 million elderly in this state can make a big impact," Hartigan said. "Right now there are 44 different programs that are supposed to serve senior citizens, but there's probably not one person in this room who is aware of three of them."

"The key is to redirect some of that money into programs that you say meet your needs . . . it doesn't make any difference what it looks like through my eyes," he said.

Clarence Hendrickson

Funeral arrangements are being made for Clarence A. Hendrickson, an Arlington Heights resident who died Monday night while attending the Rotary International convention in New Orleans, La.

Mr. Hendrickson was a delegate to the convention, which he was attending with his wife Florence and two other Arlington Heights couples: Police Chief and Mrs. L. W. Calderwood and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco.

A Realtor, Hendrickson formerly was associated with and part-owner of Willson & Florence Realty and recently was with the firm of Smith-Pipenhagen Inc. His wife has been prominent in various women's organizations and is the former president of the board of Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Arrangements are pending at Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home; an obituary will appear in Thursday's Herald.

Deaths elsewhere

LEO P. KLEIN, 77, of McHenry, formerly of Glenview and Norwood Park, and the father of Lorraine M. Turner of Rolling Meadows and Norman P. Klein of Arlington Heights, died Monday in the McHenry County Hospital, McHenry.

He was a retired photoengraver for Jahn and Ollier Co.; a member of Holy Cross Council Knights of Columbus, LaSalle General Assembly Fourth Degree and United States Federal Savings and Loan League.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday in St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, Johnsbury, Ill., with burial in St. Adalbert Cemetery, Niles. Visitation is today until 10 p.m. in Matz Funeral Home, 410 E. Rand Rd., Mount Prospect. Memorials may be made to St. John the Baptist Catholic Church Restoration Fund, Johnsbury, Ill. 60050.

ANTON MIERZWINSKI of Florida, formerly of Chicago, and the father of Dolores Grabowski of Arlington Heights, and Richard Mierzewski of Palatine, died Monday in New Port Richey, Fla.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 1138 E. Anderson Dr., Palatine, with burial in St. Michael the Archangel Cemetery, Palatine. Visitation will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m. today and from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 201 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine.

Anton Bittel

Services for Anton Bittel, 76, of Des Plaines, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Mary Church, 800 Pearson St., Des Plaines. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

He died Tuesday at home. He was a carpenter in the building industry.

Survivors include his wife, Rosalie; son, Urban Bittel; daughters, Elizabeth Ihle, Margarete Frohm, Sister Mary Gabriel, O.S.F., Viktoria Hackenberg, Rosemarie E. Theesfeld, Hildegard C. Holt and Christel G. Metz; and seven grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 6 to 9:30 p.m. today in Oehler Funeral Home, Lee and Perry Streets, Des Plaines. Family requests, masses appreciated.

The way we see it

Lindberg plan has little new

State Comptroller George Lindberg proved last week that he is an able collector of plans to save the state from fiscal disaster.

A state that must go three years without new programs is not a state that will develop solutions to the problems of its residents.

He took elements of Gov. Dan Walker's proposals and those of legislative leaders, rolled them into one, and came out with the blueprint to avoid state bankruptcy.

Another plank of the Lindberg program calls for a careful monitoring of spending. This is something, we believe, that should be put into effect in this state.

Lindberg called for no new spending programs, a hold the line policy on current spending, and approval of Walker's accelerated tax collection plan. He labeled his plan for fiscal 1977 a "year of sacrifice."

In general, we do not believe Lindberg's plan turns over any new ground in the state fiscal problems. It does provide a collection of thoughts previously espoused by Lindberg, Walker and others.

A close eye on state spending certainly is needed, but we question how realistic Lindberg's program is. We also question how receptive the Illinois General Assembly is toward implementing it.

Even taken as a whole, the plan has shortcomings. It begs the question of how long Illinois can operate at current levels without new revenue. If the plan is not followed, Lindberg avers, tax increase is inevitable.

Illinois Senate Pres. Cecil Pardee's refusal to grant Lindberg a joint session of the House and Senate is a good indication that the Democratic majority is not too interested in the Republican's plan.

If this is the case and if Lindberg and other state officials are going to serve Illinois responsibly, the call for spending cutbacks and other techniques ought to be coupled with a thorough study of the need for new revenues.

We must admit that while Lindberg's suggestion might be enough to prevent a tax hike, we have to recall Lindberg's charges against Walker. He pointed the finger and accused Walker of not providing a real solution to the problem. We aren't convinced Lindberg has a real solution either.

One recent Illinois governor was voted out of office because he "discovered" the need for new taxation only after his election. Illinois politicians who are dancing around the issue today should be a little more candid; in the long run, avoidance of the issue can only backfire.

Control spending by appropriating smaller amounts

A recent Paddock editorial urged the standardizing of revenue projections among the three major agencies of Illinois state government involved: the bureau of the budget, comptroller and economic and fiscal commission. Since I had been under the impression that these practices already are standardized, I did some further checking. I was advised that each of the agencies uses the Chase Econometrics model for determining national trends on which they base their projections of state revenues. Thus the estimating units do utilize the same basic methodology. Furthermore, according to the comptroller's office, the resultant revenue estimates are now fairly comparable. For FY '77, the bureau of the budget estimate is higher than the other two agencies by about $50 million, or 1 per cent. In estimating revenue sources as complex as the state income tax and sales tax, and considering administrative discretion in the timing of processing collections and receipts, this is not much of a difference.

Thus while there is essentially a consensus on the 1976 and 1977 revenue estimates, we now need a consensus on what this means for the fiscal health of the state. At minimum, it means that Illinois is spending more than it is taking in, that it has a very low cash balance on hand and that the margin for error in the revenue projections is small. Under the most optimistic projections and assuming no spending which is not in the governor's budget, by next October the state's cash reserves will dwindle to the point where we will be unable to pay our bills in timely fashion.

The clear message is to hold down spending for the remainder of this fiscal year and hold down appropriations for fiscal 1977.

Words of praise

To Dorothy Meyer, with great affection: Over the years your writing in the Paddock papers has given me much pleasure and, incidentally, the Xerox Corp. no little income from the copies fired off to family and friends. Life is simply too short to take things as seriously as most of us do. It's the little things that gripe the dickens out of us . . . we can take the war in Lebanon, child molestation and the swine flu in stride.

Thank you so much for the pleasure and smiles your column provides.

Thank you for your coverage of our efforts to save the "Socrates Rand Cottage."

Your coverage helped bring to light many citizens interested in saving some "relics of our past" to remind us of our heritage during this Bicentennial year.

Individual commitments for restoration, for finances and for time were not enough for us to save the "cottage." I, however, thank all of those

Extension agent aids urban folk, too

by WANDALYN RICE

For many years the county extension agent, with expertise from a large university on subjects like crop and animal husbandry, has been a standard part of the rural American scene.

In Illinois, the extension agents are from the University of Illinois; for years they have worked with farmers and sponsored 4-H groups in the state's rural communities.

It comes as a surprise to many, however, to discover that the University of Illinois Extension Service has offices in Cook County, one at 4200 W. Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows and four in Chicago, one right near the Robert Taylor housing project on Chicago's south side.

Officials in the Cook County extension program hope to change the surprise to support over the next few weeks as they lobby for support from the Cook County board for an increase in the program's budget.

"We haven't been very successful in getting the county board to appropriate funds for us," Carl Mees, director of the Cook County program says.

By law, the county may appropriate up to $225,000 to support the program, but during the past year the county has provided just $45,000, Mees says.

In the next few weeks extension officials will be trying to get the county to increase the appropriation for next year to $150,000, Mees says, an amount that would, among other things, pay for increased telephone lines and more clerical help.

Mees says, "We don't even try to tell people we're here because we can't serve all the people who know about us."

Among the persons who knew about the extension program in 1975 were more than 22,000 young people in 4-H programs, including 9,220 black youths, most from Chicago. And those 4-Hers weren't raising cows for a county fair.

"The only thing our 4-Hers can't do is a project involving a large animal who needs a barn," says Molly Weiss, a youth advisor with the county extension office on North Belmont Avenue in Chicago.

In addition to the 4-H programs, county extension officials in Chicago and the suburbs also provide advice to families on how to improve their diets and budget for food through a nutrition education program and answer questions on huge varieties of subjects that come in over the phone.

The nutrition program, funded by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, involved community workers (hired directly from communities) going door-to-door to offer help to women trying to make do on food stamps and welfare. Thomas Brandon, a home economist who works out of the Belmont Avenue office, says.

The nutrition program, in 1975 reached 3,300 families with a total of more than 14,000 individuals, most of them children. And, Mrs. Brandon says, the program has helped people.

"Many times people will get donated food but they won't know how to fix it," she says. "We can help them so it doesn't go to waste."

Advice over the telephone is even more popular than other extension programs. Persons call the extension office entomologist for advice on how to get rid of problem insects and call the home economists for advice on what to feed their families or how to prepare certain foods.

Those calls aren't necessarily from low-income persons, but are occasionally from cooks in real distress. "A lot of people who call are in the process of cooking something and have it on the stove when they decide they need help," Mrs. Brandon says.

'Parliamentary beartrap'

by CHERYL ARVIDSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The masters of delay are once again teaching the Senate that cutting off debate does not always speed the passage of legislation.

The Senate leadership relies on a procedure called cloture to limit debate on highly controversial bills and speed final votes.

A "parliamentary beartrap" is how Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd describes cloture because of the severe restraints it imposes on lawmakers — only one hour of speech per senator is allowed — and the limits it puts on amendments.

But the Senate's consideration of the antitrust law reform bill was another example — perhaps the most blatant in recent years — of how cloture is not the easiest way out of a filibuster.

The majority was reminded of the extent that opponents can use the rules to delay an objectionable bill even after the debate-limiting cloture vote is taken.

In the past, cloture was looked on as a cure for the filibuster, a procedure whereby a handful of opponents can tie up Senate business and literally talk a bill to death.

To make it easier to cut off filibusters, the Senate recently changed its rules to require 60 votes to impose cloture rather than the previous two-thirds. And as the number of liberals in the Senate increased, cloture has become easier to get.

But the minority knows the rules book and proved during the antitrust bill that cloture can be turned against the majority. The key is filing a lot of amendments before the debate-limiting vote occurs and demanding a lot of roll call votes once cloture is approved.

"Much has been said in recent days about the tyranny of the majority," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield in a fit of anger over the snail's pace progress on the bill. "But what about the tyranny of the minority? Is the majority without rights?"

"An objective observer of the Senate for the past week would have to conclude that not only does the majority have no rights but that the minority controls the leadership function of the Senate."

Hits board cuts

Dist. 59 has prided itself in the special education programs it has offered for many years. In fact many parents throughout the district have recently written letters of praise to our director of pupil personnel and the special education staff who have been responsible for developing and maintaining the excellent programs that have been offered to our children.

Now it seems there are changes being made to our programs for what appears to be change's sake. Specifically, we as parents are greatly concerned with regard to the decentralization of some special ed and student services departments. We no longer will have a department head who is knowledgeable as to all our children's special needs making the decisions, but rather having the principals making these decisions. Our great concern is that many of the principals are not knowledgeable in the field of special education and thus are not qualified to make these decisions as to our children's special needs.

The new state regulations governing student services spell out the school district's responsibilities in regard to our children and also the rights that we as parents have. We believe it is necessary for the administration and the board of education to re-read over very carefully these state regulations before making your final decisions as to changes in the special education and student services departments.

We do not feel the district can fulfill its responsibilities as established by the state regulations if special education and student services departments are decentralized.

We will not accept anything less than what we have had in the past years and that is a central figure, one who is knowledgeable as to our children's special needs, heading our programs.

We ask the administration and board of education to understand that we cannot and will not negotiate with our children's future.

BIG BUSINESS

"I miss the garage, Harry."

And more job satisfaction

Communication key to success

Speaking dollar-wise

by Robert S. Rosefsky

John pondered what his boss had just related to him:

"John, we're changing your work detail. After all these years, the Big Boys upstairs have decided to put two framistats into every order instead of just one. Don't ask me why. You're in charge of seeing that it gets done properly."

Simple enough? Perhaps. Just put in two framistats instead of one. But John was upset. He was being told that his longstanding routine was being changed and for reasons he wasn't supposed to ask about. And he was concerned that if the job didn't get done properly, he'd take the blame. After all, did the Big Boys upstairs know the specific problems involved in installing the framistats? Maybe two wouldn't fit? Maybe there weren't enough in stock to put two in every order? Maybe the extra time needed to install the extra framistat would delay the whole process, meaning late shipments and unhappy customers?

As is often the case, John blamed the messenger, his boss, rather than the message. Some sparks flew, to the benefit of no one.

WHETHER A framistat is an extra glob of glue or a sophisticated electronic circuit or whatever doesn't matter. The example points out some of the basic human problems in communication that can have a dangerous effect on both the individuals and the work to be done.

Dr. Jamie Weinstein is a psychologist and director of education for The Innovative Group, a La Jolla, Calif. — based firm which designs learning systems for business. The firm's aim is to bridge the often wide gap between management goals and operational tasks, and to help motivate employees to work creatively, productively and thus more profitably for themselves and their companies.

Dr. Weinstein's premise is that if we become better communicators, we can become better workers — and that means more job satisfaction, both now and for the future.

Whether the communications are spoken face to face, or over the telephone, or in writing, and whether they are with superiors, equals or subordinates, how you handle them can make a drastic difference in the ultimate result. John and the framistats is a case in point. He has the opportunity of performing a job well, or he could be responsible for a job begrudgingly, and possibly improperly, done.

AMONG THE attributes of a good communicator, suggests Dr. Weinstein, are a cool, clear head; one which will pause to reflect on what's been said, to analyze, to balance, to calmly weigh all of the factors involved. Communication is a two-way street; and while most of us are quick to speak our mind, many of us lack the skills of a good listener.

Achievement of a goal requires mutual understanding between speaker and listener. A breakdown can result simply by the speaker neglecting to ask, "Are you sure you understand me?" Or by a listener failing to reply, "I'm not sure I've got the idea of what you're trying to tell me."

Quite often, as in the case of John and the framistats, communication in a work setting involves some kind of change, and human nature all too frequently rebels against change. Status quo is a disease we're all heir to. Dr. Weinstein sees change as a pathway to opportunity. "It's just common sense that change is inevitable. Fighting it is a losing battle, but it can work in your favor if you allow it. Turn the tables and take advantage of change for self-motivation. Tell yourself, 'Change isn't an inconvenience. It's an opportunity for new personal growth, and I want to grow,'" he said.

On the other hand, maybe two framistats is a bad idea, and you can grow by proving it. Either way, grab the initiative and run with it.

Dow average down by 5 on Senate vote on oil bill

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking and proposed legislation to break up the oil companies were major factors as prices lost ground Tuesday for the first time in four sessions in easier trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most observers, who anticipated the early profit taking, were impressed with the way the market had begun to rally in the afternoon. But the Senate Judiciary Committee's 8-to-7 vote approving a bill to break up the nation's 18 largest oil companies took the steam out of the late drive.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, a 12.44-point winner Monday, lost 5.32 points to 985.92. Off about six points at one time, the Dow average trimmed its loss to little more than two points before the Senate news was broke.

THE CLOSELY watched blue-chip average had climbed 33.15 points the previous three sessions in a rally sparked by indications Federal Reserve Board economic policies had contained inflation, yet left enough room for the economy to expand.

On a broader scale, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 0.49 to 101.46, the NYSE common stock index slipped 0.23 to 54.04 and the average price of an NYSE common share surrendered 15 cents.

Declines topped advances, 778 to 585, among the 1,859 issues crossing the tape. But 496 unchanged issues indicated some investor uncertainty and showed the selling pressure was not strong.

VOLUME TOTALED 18,440,000 shares, down from the 21,250,000 traded Monday, the heaviest trading session in three weeks.

Exxon, the nation's largest oil firm, fell 1-3/8 to 103 1/4 following the Senate committee vote. It was not considered a large loss for the high-priced stock. Some analysts said the Senate vote had been anticipated and the bill's future was uncertain.

Business briefs

Panel OKs breakup of 18 big oil firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday approved 8 to 7 a bill to break up the nation's 18 biggest petroleum companies, confining each to narrower areas of operation.

Opponents pledged to continue their fight against the legislation on the Senate floor. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., told reporters: "Divestiture can be beaten. It's certain to be vetoed. And we could sustain a veto."

Under the bill, the big oil firms would be given 18 months to file a five-year plan for separating its exploration and production from its refining and marketing operations.

With some exceptions, oil producers, refiners and marketers would not be allowed to own pipelines. Refiners could keep service stations, but no more than they were operating as of last Jan. 1.

Qualifying as "major" companies under the bill's criteria would be Exxon, Texaco, Shell, Standard of Indiana, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Atlantic-Richfield, Getty, Union, Sun, Phillips, Continental, Cities Service, Marathon, BP-Sohio, Amerasia Hess and Ashland.

25% hike for Teamster brass

Top Teamster officials already accused of lining their pockets with members' money, were granted a 25 per cent salary increase Tuesday by the union convention. It boosted Pres. Frank Fitzsimmons to about $156,000 a year. A dues increase also was expected to be approved on grounds that the union, although rich with investment capital, is currently operating at a loss.

Senate OKs workmen comp bill

The Illinois Senate Tuesday passed and sent to the House a Democratic-backed workmen's compensation bill reducing some of the benefit increases enacted last year. The measure (S1967) passed by a vote of 43-1. Only Sen. Frank Ozinger, R-Evergreen Park, voted against it. The other 13 Republicans on the floor voted present.

The bill would reduce death or permanent total disability benefits from an unlimited amount to a maximum of $10,660. The bill also includes revisions providing that only ailments aggravated on the job would qualify a worker for benefits, exempting more "family" farms from workmen's coverage and extending exemption of domestic help from coverage for another two years until 1980.

Illegal campaign donations told

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. agreed to federal charges Tuesday that the corporation illegally contributed more than $300,000 to campaigns of federal, state and local politicians. The alleged violations occurred between November 1970, and May 1973, the Securities and Exchange Commission said.

"WE WELCOME THE WHOLESALE TRADE"

IN AN OFFICE CORNER of her bedroom, Elaine Tench of Arlington Heights spends about an hour and a half each day ("when the spirit moves me") as a volunteer Brailist, transcribing print into Braille for the blind. She has become adept at reading Braille by sight, though not by touch.

Volunteer Brailist

Transcriber for blind learns as she serves

by ELEANOR RIVES

It was just a little item in the newspaper. But it happened to hit Elaine Tench at the right moment — just when she had decided to stop dribbling away her spare time and do something useful.

The 1969 article described the need of the Johanna Bureau for the Blind and Visually Handicapped for volunteer Braille transcribers. It struck a chord. Elaine was a widow of a few years and time was one of her available commodities. Her husband had been chairman of the Blind Activities Committee of the Lions Club.

With a friend in tow, she made a trip to the Bureau in downtown Chicago and was given the grand tour — the music and math departments, the library, the duplicating room. She agreed to take the first three lessons, designed to help volunteers, decide if they are really interested.

She was really interested.

EQUIPPED WITH a Brailier (like a baby typewriter, but oh, so different!), reams of special master copy paper, books and assignments, all courtesy of the Bureau, she has been transcribing print into Braille ever since.

"For the first six months, I went down to the Bureau every week to have my homework proofed," said Elaine. "There's a crack proofreader down there — a blind woman — who tells you where you goofed. She's a real brain."

It takes six to eight months to master Braille transcription and become certified by the Library of Congress in Washington. Elaine was certified in November 1969. Now she and Helen Smiekel, a neighbor Brailist, take their work to the Bureau together.

"IT'S HARDER TO type Braille than you think. It's not just a matter of ABCs," said Elaine. "With only six keys used in various combinations, and a spacer, you turn out the entire alphabet, mathematics, foreign languages, music — just about anything."

In Braille, as in speedwriting, there are many short forms that must be learned by transcribers and blind readers alike. "Tomorrow" is shortened to "tom"; "decline" to "decl"; "immediate" to "imm." The word "nevertheless" becomes "n" plus the sign for "ever" plus the sign for "the" plus the sign for "less."

Elaine transcribes textbooks, Sunday School papers, novels, medical papers, but leaves math, music and foreign language to others. The work to be done is graded for beginner, average or advanced. She is advanced.

A BEGINNER is apt to start on a short novel, not too difficult. And every beginner can count on getting "The Life of Louis Braille," the man who, in 1829, invented the system.

"Ninety pages in Braille are termed a 'volume,'" she explained. "A medium-sized textbook transcribes to four volumes." She can finish such a textbook in the course of a week. "It takes 5 or 6 minutes to do one page of Braille," she added. "One printed page transcribes into two and a half Braille pages." The pages a transcriber turns out are master copies and may be duplicated at the Bureau in whatever quantity is needed.

When Elaine transcribes a cookbook, she might just help herself to a recipe. When she transcribes a novel, such as "Murder in Canton," she resists her desire to read ahead so she won't lose interest.

"EVERYTHING I transcribe is different," she said. "That's what makes it so fascinating."

One of her more recent efforts was transcribing lunch and dinner menus into Braille for the Magic Pan Creperies. Now blind customers can make their food selections without help.

The Johanna Bureau, with about 350 volunteers providing various types of service, does a tremendous amount of textbook work, providing materials for students from pre-school through post-graduate levels and on into adult careers. It provides materials in Braille for the Chicago Public Library, for the Library of Congress in Washington, and for the Iowa Commission in Des Moines, one of the largest libraries for the blind in the United States.

ACCORDING TO Lorraine Jackson, executive chairman, the Bureau is desperately in need of more volunteer Brailists. Anyone interested may call her at 332-6076 for more information.

"It's a type of volunteer work that's a little different," said Elaine. "It helps the blind, but it helps the volunteer, too. It makes you think — and it's bound to rub off on you. You would be surprised how much you learn."

A problem for marriage counselor, not lawyer

Dear Attorney Martocchio,

I am married for a second time and have a daughter who is 19. She contributes her share at home and has never caused either of us a bit of trouble. Now my husband wants her to move out.

I don't think it's fair because when we married seven years ago, I sold my house and helped with the down payment on another one. We now have a third house in joint tenancy. My marriage has been shaky for the past few years.

I own half of the house. Don't I have something to say? If my daughter chooses to leave, I would give her my blessings and let her go. But does he have the right to ask her to leave? Where do I stand legally as a wife and mother? — Worried Mother.

Dear Worried Mother,

As a mother, I understand your dilemma, but I am sorry to say that I must view your problem more in the light of marriage counseling than legal help.

You state that the house is half yours. By the same token, half of the house belongs to him too. Neither of you has to accept a third person's living in your house without the consent of the other. Unfortunately, in this in-adopt your child, there is an alternative. You are concerned because your first child has a name different than the two who belong to you and your present husband and that it may cause this child some embarrassment in explaining the difference.

Women and children first

A name changing procedure would permit your first child to take his stepfather's name. His natural father's consent is not necessary providing it can be shown that the change of name is for the best interests of the child.

Correction: In the June 2 column, "Wife Seeks Fair Divorce Settlement," I inadvertently omitted "and child support" in a sentence that should have read: "Each case is decided on its merits, but ordinarily a court might grant as alimony and child support anywhere from one-third to one-half of the husband's income, if children must be supported."

(Readers are invited to submit questions regarding legal problems of women and children. Names and facts that would identify the writer are withheld on request. Attorney Martocchio's column is to inform and not advise. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 230, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Don't leave it to chance, Plan for wedding dance

Want to dance at your wedding? Then don't pick your dance band as you would a lottery ticket, advises choreographer and dance instructor Mayphine Van Zant.

Audition the combo before you hire them, she says. Ask to hear the types of music they play and what songs are in their repertoire. Make sure they can play a combination of dance steps to please guests of all ages. Tell the head musician what you want. Find out how long the group will play and whether they take requests. Then get it all in writing.

Ms. Van Zant, who teaches in the MONACEP Adult Education Program in this area and at several YMCAs in Chicago, says you can avoid embarrassment for wedding party members with two left feet by having someone at the rehearsal to demonstrate basic steps.

It's also a good idea to enlist a sociable friend of the bridal pair to coordinate the various dances at the wedding, which should include mixers, she says. And she also suggests using "line dances that require a leader. Guests simply follow the leader regardless of how good dancers they are."

Dance numbers should be coordinated with the band's repertoire before the wedding, she emphasizes.

WASHING WINDOWS IS part of a shopkeeper's lot, but Jo Wood and Helen Lenart find a little clowning makes a dull job more fun. Mrs. Wood is president of the Over the Rainbow Association which recently opened a thrift shop at 1645 Oakton St., Des Plaines. Staffed by volunteers and with merchandise furnished by businesses and individuals the shop is open 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Proceeds will go toward a residential facility to house physically handicapped adolescents and adults. Those with donations may call the shop, 297-4233.

Child's blood type can differ from parents'

Recently on a television program a man said that a child had to have the same blood type as one or the other of the parents. Is this true?

I am a man 60 years old and was married 38 years and we had three children. Our marriage was fairly good, but we had some differences stemming from her previous marriage which resulted in three children.

My blood type is O positive and hers A positive. Two of my children had my blood type and they resembled me both in looks and make-up. The other child did not follow either my blood type or his mother's but had a rare type of blood (two letters and a negative). He also looked different. Could this mean I am not his father?

This son is married and has four children. I love him, always have and always will and this secret, if it is a secret, will die with me. He shall never know.

My wife has been dead for four years now and I have not and will not marry again. I hold nothing against her in any way and expect to meet her again in heaven. Can you give me any positive answer or literature that would settle this question?

The problem of blood types and parentage is sufficiently complicated that I think people should rely on their doctor for an explanation. In the first place, we all have two genes to make up our blood type. Your wife, for example, must have been AO not just A. Both of your blood type genes are O. Some people consider type O as a neutral or no blood type. That is because the red blood cells contain no substance for blood typing. A parent transmits only one of his or her genes to the offspring. The O gene is the weak gene. So an AO and BO couple (classified as type A and type B) could have a child with type A, B, AB or O blood.

You are talking about the Rh factor. Both you and your wife were Rh positive. Most of the children from such a union would be Rh positive, but you also have two genes for the Rh factor. There is a dominant gene (D) and a weak gene (d) and each parent transmits only one of the genes to the child. Hence, if both parents were DD (Rh positive), all the children would be dd (Rh negative). If both were dd (Rh negative), all the children would be dd or Rh negative.

THE COMPLEXITY occurs when both parents have Dd (also Rh positive) paired genes. On a chance basis one child will be dd (Rh negative). This is how two Rh positive (Dd parents) have an Rh negative offspring.

To give you more information about the standard blood types, Rh factor and blood transfusions I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-4. Other readers who want this information can forward 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, Tex.

If the information you have given me is correct, I would assume your son is either type A Rh negative or type O Rh negative. And he would be your son even though he has Rh negative blood.

Love is not based on genes. Parents can and do love an adopted child as much or more than one with their own genes. The important thing in your relationship with your son is that he is a product of your own loving upbringing. Nothing can change that. Knowing that he can have a different blood type than the Rh positive type you and your wife had may help you feel better about your relationship with your late wife.

Sloppy Joes please hungry teen-agers

Dear Dorothy: "How about 'Sloppy Joes'?" asked one of my teenagers when I expressed bewilderment on what to feed the small army that congregates around our place weekends. Clearly, I'm behind the times. Looked in three cookbooks and find no such thing. You're everybody's "crutch" in emergencies. How?—Brooke Coulter

A whole set of plusses here, Brooke — not only do the young love them, but they're simple to make and inexpensive, to boot. These easy instructions make enough for six: Crumble one pound of ground beef into a heated frying pan and add a chopped onion and one teaspoon of salt. Cook until the meat is browned. Stir in one-half cup of catsup and one-quarter cup of mustard or one eight-ounce can of tomato sauce. Cook slowly until hot. This makes six half-cup servings which you pour over warm buns.

Dear Dorothy: Your column recommended cheap vanilla to get rid of an animal odor on a rug. I found this worked on an odor in the extra refrigerator we keep in the basement. Just saturated a cloth with vanilla, wiped every part of the refrigerator, then closed the door. Odor vanished.—Mrs. J. C. Forsberg

Dear Dorothy: New at it, I don't get the point of tree dressing after the normal tree pruning, and so forth.—Jessica Shields.

Any cut half an inch or more takes quite a while to heal and gives insects easy entrance. That's why it's important.

Dear Dorothy: Others might like my way of making Cafe Mocha. Just make a cup of hot cocoa and add one teaspoon of instant coffee.—J. Woodlen

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 289, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60004.)

Kathie Thuerk— Ronald Chesnut

In a 3 p.m. ceremony May 15 that took place in the home of her parents, Kathie Darlene Thuerk, daughter of the Ervin D. Thuerks of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Ronald Chesnut, son of the Bernard L. Chesnuts of Normal, Ill. The buffet reception for 65 guests was also held in the Thuerk home.

Officiating at the double ring service was Dr. James P. Martin of First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

Kathie chose a white linen dress with eyelet lace trim, and a wreath of fresh stephanotis and baby's breath with variegated ivy for her headpiece. Her flowers were phalaenopsis orchids and variegated ivy.

A '69 GRADUATE of Prospect High and a '73 graduate of Colorado State University with a degree in food science and nutrition, Kathie has been employed as a home economist and test kitchen manager for Sphere Magazine in Chicago.

The groom, who was in the Navy from 1966 to 1970, was a partner in a heating and air conditioning business and is now with Union Tank Car Co., Chicago. He and Kathie will be making their home in California, and their honeymoon was the trip west.

Clubwomen sell new book

The presentation of the new book, "Illinois Women — Born to Serve," which includes stories of the lives of women who helped make life better for all who live in Illinois, was one of the highlights of the recent convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

The book, by Evelyn Witter and David R. Collins, was commissioned by the IFWC as a Bicentennial "Horizons" project, and the authors were at the convention, held at the Palmer House, to autograph copies for delegates.

Members of Prospect Heights Woman's Club are among IFWC members selling the $2.50 book. Readers may order it from Mrs. F. M. Krempel, 408 N. Schoenbeck Road, Prospect Heights, Ill. 60070.

The Prospect Heights Club will be presenting a copy of "Illinois Women — Born to Serve" to the Prospect Heights Library.

OES to serve chicken dinner as fund-raiser

Members of Palatine Chapter 585, Order of Eastern Star, will bake and serve a chicken dinner Saturday from 5 to 7:30 p.m., with all proceeds going into a scholarship fund for Palatine youths.

The public is invited to the full-course dinner that evening at the Masonic Temple, 1 Plum Grove Rd. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 8 years of age. Mrs. Darlene Doggett is chairman. A bake sale by the Past Matrons Club is planned during the serving hours. Two scholarships have been provided annually by the chapter in past years.

Present new officers

New officers for the '76-'77 year were presented at a recent luncheon meeting of Buehler YMCA Distaffs. Mary Jane Rath, of Barrington, will serve as President; Gay Kenna, Palatine, vice president; Deborah Dowd, Barrington, corresponding secretary; and Jean Clifford, Palatine, treasurer.

Successful ways and means projects and profits from the volunteer-staffed snack bar provided funds for several donations to the Buehler YMCA. A Mimeograph machine was purchased for office use. Funds were contributed to the Y Building Fund and World Service.

The Y Distaffs are planning another year of service and comradeship and all area women are invited to join. Gay Kenna, 359-2159, may be called for further information.

Sisterhood to install

The annual installation luncheon for the Sisterhood of Congregation Beth Judea is next Tuesday at noon at the congregation in Long Grove. "The Many Faces of Women" is the title of the afternoon program.

Grandpa's Radio

by Ed Landwehr

The technician who serviced Grandpa's radio back about 1925 serviced it with a screwdriver, pliers and a simple meter worth maybe $5.00. He spent a couple of hours on the job, not because the radio was complicated, but because he didn't have any other efficient tools to ferret out the trouble. It was hit and miss until he found it.

Today on a much more complex TV, a technician takes an average of a half hour, but he uses numerous precision instruments. For example, the equipment at Landwehr's TV & Appliance Center for maintaining color television is valued at many thousands of dollars. And new equipment is periodically added to keep up with changing designs. But our maintenance is fast and accurate.

When you phone 255-0700 we guarantee your satisfaction. And stop in at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights to register Dad for Free Tickets to Bears — Cubs — Sox!

Molecules remodeled into plastic

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Scott Wylie, 10, of Lancaster, Pa., for his question: HOW IS PLASTIC MADE?

A general inventory of the items in your house would turn up a great many things made from plastics of one kind or another. Clear as glass or rainbow-colored, plastic can be hard as a brick or soft as a glove. It can turn up as part of a bicycle, a football helmet or even the bag that keeps your sandwich fresh. One thing for sure, plastics are a part of our world.

Back in the early days of our nation, ordinary household items were made from natural substances. However, as time went on and the world population increased, shortages of many natural fibers and other materials occurred. Clever chemists stepped in and saved the day by creating synthetic substances that, in many cases, proved superior-to-natural materials.

There are dozens of recipes for making plastics. Many of these recipes are guarded secrets protected by the people that produce them. Basically the ingredients in most plastics are hydrocarbon chemicals extracted from such sources as coal, petroleum and even salt and water. The trick is to take the tiny molecules of these substances and remodel them into larger, more complex molecules. Whichever type of plastic is being made, the process is a complex one. Every recipe requires a precise series of intricate steps, and controlled heat and pressure are very important.

One type of plastic is made by bubbling a gas — ethylene — through a liquid, benzene. Both of these chemicals come from petroleum. During this bubbling process a new substance is formed — ethylbenzene. The ethylbenzene is heated to a high temperature and brought in contact with certain other substances to produce another substance called styrene.

Other chemicals are added to the styrene, and the resulting compound is heated and put under great pressure. A chemical reaction causes the styrene molecules to link together and form longer chainlike molecules of polystyrene. The final material can then be ground up and molded into polystyrene plastic articles.

The problem with many man-made substances is that they do not decompose as natural substances do. Wood, wool, iron, paper and other natural substances eventually decompose and are reclaimed by the earth. They are recycled, as new raw materials, and help enrich the earth's soil.

Many ecologists are quite concerned about the numerous plastic products that litter our country. Many of these products keep their composition for literally hundreds of years. Until chemists find successful ways to recycle these plastic and plastic-foam products, it is essential for each of us to make sure that they do not end up as litter and unsightly trash.

Andy sends a Student Globe to Joe Jajko, 16, of Lansing, Mich., for his question: DO WOODPECKERS EVER GET HEADACHES?

It just stands to reason that a woodpecker would get a headache, with all the force he uses to drill holes in trees. Truth is, though, he has special equipment to bore into trees, and no doubt enjoys every minute of the activity. A woodpecker has a sturdy chisel-like bill, ideal for excavating nest holes and locating tasty wood-boring insects. His bill is supported by a large head with a strong skull capable of absorbing the repeated shocks it gets.

The bills of birds usually are perfectly adapted according to the food-gathering method employed by each species. Our woodpecker is no exception. He also has an extraordinarily long tongue, bordered with sharp barbs at the tip. When coated with mucus from well-developed glands at its base, his tongue becomes a perfect tool for gathering up insects or licking sap from the bark. Some species, such as the great spotted woodpecker, have tongues that can extend many times the length of their bills.

With today's higher car prices, many people have a hard time managing the monthly payments of a 36-month loan.

So, in addition to our 36-month loan, The Money Store offers a 48-month loan with lower monthly payments.

Both are simple interest loans, meaning you pay interest only on the unpaid balance and only as long as it's unpaid. So if you prepay part of your balance, either by making a payment before it's due or by trading in or selling your car, you end up saving money.

Besides lending money for cars, The Money Store makes loans for other purposes in amounts up to $15,000.

Call or stop by The Money Store nearest you and ask your Money Store Manager about our 48-month new car loan.

The difference between getting the car you want and not getting it could be our 48 easy pieces.

Skill never comes to play to watch some rubber-bridge players in action you would think that the Declaration of Independence said that all men were created free and equal and entitled to play all notrump contracts.

South was one of those notrumpists. He knew that he played notrump contracts brilliantly. He also knew that the way to get to three notrump was to bid it.

South might well have opened the bidding with one club. If he had done that and robed hearts after North responded with either one or two diamonds, North would probably have wound up playing a notrump or diamond slam. A heart or spade lead would give him that contract. With a diamond or club lead he would have had to find the right line of play.

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

However, South passed his 12 high-card points. Then when North opened the bidding he had to make sure to be the notrump bidder and decided to bid game.

North thought about going on, but decided to pass. West opened the queen of spades and all South's genius play could do was to take eight tricks after the defense scored the first five.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A X R
L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Nobody makes them better.

(Some people just charge more.)

Fleischmann's is the world's driest gin. So naturally it mixes superbly with anything you choose. And you can't buy a better vodka than Fleischmann's—not at any price. So, gin or vodka, you'll make a better drink when you make it with Fleischmann's.

Sting continue battle to attract fans

When we were kids growing up in Palatine, we played some incredibly intense baseball games on a little grass field on Lincoln Ave. We continued to play on that field until we were all past 20, eventually switching to softball when the neighbors complained about the cost of replacing broken windows.

It must have been around 1962 when one of the neighbors — certainly not one of the complainers — called the local newspaper and told someone in the sports department that several 14-year-olds were demonstrating amazing feats of baseball skill on Lincoln Ave.

"These kids play like major leaguers," the man reported. "They run, field and hit like real big leaguers."

The newspaperman, like most sportswriters, was probably a master of hyperbole himself, so he wasn't fooled by the caller's flair for overstatement. But he didn't hang up right away, either.

"How many people usually attend these games?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm always there to watch them," said the man. "And sometimes my wife, if she's not too busy in the kitchen."

Needless to say, our baseball exploits never saw print.

We all learned a meaningful lesson in sports journalism that day. There's strength in numbers. If the people want it, the papers will cover it. If not, tough.

The Chicago Sting is learning the same lesson. Meanwhile, the two-year-old North American Soccer League team would like to teach the city's media a lesson or two of its own.

Can you imagine what it was like the day someone first called in the results of the Indianapolis 500?

"We had 300,000 people in the stands today," the guy probably told the local paper.

The next year, that newspaper most likely sent a reporter to the old brickyard in Indianapolis, just in case 300,000 fans showed up again.

And a sport was born.

Art Mugalian

Staff Sportswriter

It will take almost the same kind of dramatic event to breathe life into the Sting, a classic example of a team that is forced to create its own headlines. Charged with that job is Sting public relations director Brad Sham, a 27-year-old former newspaperman who has a five-year background in soccer.

"In terms of the three Chicago papers there's absolutely no question that it's a vicious circle," Sham said Tuesday. "The editors say they can't cover us if there are no people in the stands, and we won't get people in the stands unless there's coverage in the papers. I can see that both sides are completely correct.

"If we could get a day-of-game advance and a day-after-game summary and maybe a little good play early in the week for a Friday or Saturday night game, then more people would know about us and more people would buy tickets," said Sham.

"But I know a lot of editors hesitate to give coverage commensurate to basketball or baseball to a sport that averages just 4,000 a game."

Only slightly more than 1,500 fans attended the Sting's 5-1 win over Philadelphia at Comiskey Park Sunday when 18-year-old Morton East High School star Miro Rys scored two goals and an assist. But the game was well-reported in the daily press and Sham was encouraged.

"Miro was a godsend for us, although not in terms of attendance yet," said Sham, who is convinced that soccer can bury the stigma of its foreign roots.

"There has been a trend to Americanize soccer in the past few years," he continued. "We have to give the fans good soccer, but we can't have a game dominated by foreign players. Each year for the past three years the league has increased the number of American players a team has to have on its roster. This year it's six."

Still, the biggest soccer attraction in the world is Brazilian superstar Pele, who comes to town with his New York Cosmos teammates June 23 at Soldier Field. Sham is holding his breath.

"I'll be most interested in seeing what kind of pre-Pele coverage there is in the sports pages," Sham said. "It won't be make-or-break for the franchise, but say we draw 30,000 that night. We might end up averaging 8,000 or 9,000 a game for the rest of the season."

Sham said he expected at least 20,000 for the appearance of Pele, who has not played soccer in Chicago since he signed a multi-million dollar contract with the Cosmos two years ago.

"Pele has already earned his money," said Sham. "He drew 35,000 in Washington, 25,000 in Dallas, 53,000 in Seattle, 42,000 in Los Angeles, 46,000 in Miami, 32,000 in Portland."

"Very honestly, there isn't a chance that soccer won't catch on here," the Sting's P.R. man said. "The only question is how long it takes."

Sham doesn't expect he'll ever have to call the local papers to tell them there are 50,000 people in the stands at Soldier Field. He figures if he does his job, the reporters will already be there to see it.

"The problem is you can take a horse to water but you can't make him write," Sham said.

A's owner sells superstar trio for $3 million

OAKLAND (UPI) — Flamboyant Charles O. Finley, in the most spectacular series of deals of major league baseball history, Tuesday night stripped his three-time world champion Oakland A's of superstars Joe Rudi, Rolfe Fingers and Vida Blue in two separate straight-cash deals involving a total of $3-million.

In the first startling announcement of the evening, Finley sent Rudi and Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1-million each. He then announced that Blue, a three-time 20-game winner and the Cy Young Award winner in three Oakland World Series championships from 1972-74, compiling a .300 average in the fall classics, and in 1974 against the Dodgers he made one of the greatest catches in Series history.

Fingers, like Rudi, was at his best in pressure situations. He compiled a 1.35 earned run average in 16 World Series appearances and was generally recognized as the American League's No. 1 relief pitcher. In the 1974 Series, he was voted the most valuable player, appearing in four of the five games against the Dodgers with a 1.33 ERA.

Blue, the fitful star who rose to nationwide fame in 1971 when he became the first rookie pitcher in history to win the Cy Young Award, had a 24-8 mark that year with a 1.82 earned run average and struck out 301 batters. He had a memorable contract fight with Finley during that winter and was only 6-10 the next season. However, he won a total of 59 games in the next three seasons.

Finley, characterized by his hard-boiled attitude toward player salary demands, said: "There was a lot of sweat, a lot of blood and a lot of sacrifice put into this ballclub. Yet, five ballplayers of mine had an agent by the name of Jerry Kapstein who kept me in the dark continuously."

Kapstein is the business advisor for Rudi, Fingers, Bert Campaneris, Gene Tenace and Don Baylor, who came over in the Jackson trade with Baltimore.

Finley complained repeatedly that Kapstein had conducted all negotiations over the long-distance phone instead of coming to see him. Kapstein, who makes his office in Springfield, Va., said repeatedly that he was willing to meet Finley, but no meeting date was ever set by the Oakland owner.

With five of his top stars gone now, Finley obviously faces a much tougher job ahead. That didn't seem to worry him, however. "We will rebuild," he said, "and fast!"

Meanwhile, in Boston, Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson, apparently unaware of the Yankees acquisition of Blue, smiled and said, "we'll run New York down pretty soon and have some fun this summer."

"We are talking about one of the premier, if not the premier pitcher in the American League, in the last few years," he said in reference to Fingers. Adding in regard to Rudi, he said: "We're talking about one of the best players in the American League."

"Certainly the Best Red Sox are dang happy to have both of them on the club."

Charles O. Finley

1971, had been sold to the New York Yankees, also for $1-million.

The deals virtually completed the dismantling of Finley's championship teams of 1972-73-74 as he previously had sent Reggie Jackson and Ken Holtzman to the Baltimore Orioles in a blockbuster trade prior to the start of the season.

All five Oakland superstars had not signed contracts for 1976 and were scheduled to become free agents at the conclusion of this season. It was for this reason that Finley chose to unload them.

"I just refuse to let these athletes drive me into bankruptcy with their astronomical, unjustified salary demands," said Finley in his Chicago office. "I'm disappointed over the necessity of having to make these sales today."

It was the most spectacular dismantling of a championship club since Connie Mack broke up his 1929-31 Philadelphia A's teams. Despite winning, Mack gave up superstars Jimmie Foxx, Lefty Grove, Al Simmons, George Walberg and Max Bishop in separate deals because the club still wasn't drawing at the gate.

Rudi, called by his Oakland teammates "the man without a weakness," started the 1976 season with a .276 lifetime average. Playing both first base and the outfield, Rudi was regarded as one of the most valuable players in the league every season from 1970-75. He also starred in all technical knockout in the fifth round to move into prime contention for the title.

Foreman registers TKO over Frazier in 5th round

UNIONDALE, N. Y. (UPI) — George Foreman unleashed a furious fusillade of punches to knock Joe Frazier down twice and score a technical knockout at 2:26 of the fifth round Tuesday night in their scheduled 12-rounders.

Frazier, who entered the ring with his head shaven as a psychological ploy, had held his own until the fifth round, bobbing and weaving and using the ropes in an attempt to make Foreman tire himself weary.

Suddenly, in the fifth round, Foreman landed a right uppercut, then proceeded to hammer away at a defenseless Frazier for at least a half minute before scoring a knockdown with a short right hand.

Frazier was up almost immediately, but appeared dazed. Foreman, sensing the kill, charged across the ring from a neutral corner and once more began to hammer away. Frazier went down seconds later for a eight count and his handler, Eddie Futch, rushed across the outside of the ring apron to tell referee Harold Valan to stop the fight.

The loss for Frazier almost certainly marks the end of one of contemporary boxing's most fabled careers. The last sentence of the last chapter of Frazier's ring career will not do justice to his performance as he sought revenge against the man who gave him a savage beating in taking his heavyweight championship 3½ years ago at Kingston, Jamaica.

The fashion in which the 27-year-old Foreman raised his record to 42-and-1, with 39 knockouts, should silence the majority of his critics and should prove conclusively he's ready for a shot at regaining the heavyweight title lost to Muhammad Ali in Zaire.

Foreman displayed fine defensive ability, catching many of Frazier's blows on his arms, and showed he can take a good punch.

This was the first time Foreman had won impressively since losing the title in 1973 and his performance undoubtedly earned him serious consideration for a rematch with Ali, provided the champion defeats Ken Norton in his next title defense.

Frazier, who moved backwards for the first time in his career in carrying out his battle plan almost to perfection during the first four rounds, countered with left hooks over Foreman's right uppercuts before reverting to his natural instincts in fifth and paying the price.

Foreman, criticized for tiring himself out with his free-swinging against Ali and Ron Lyle, maintained his composure and picked his spots. He talked to Frazier, showing no signs of the shattered ego believed to be the result of his loss to Ali. Frazier weighed the heaviest of his career at 224½ pounds, the same weight as Foreman. His record fell to 34-4.

Frazier never had Foreman in trouble, although he won the second round when he landed a half dozen left hooks.

And Valan never warned Foreman for pushing, something Futch had complained happened in Frazier's first fight with Foreman. Foreman was warned for cuffing in the third round.

With a crowd estimated at more than 10,000 chanting "Let's go Joe," Foreman took command in the third round when he landed a left-right combination as Frazier tried to make him arm-weary by lying on the ropes as Ali had done so successfully in Zaire.

Foreman opened a cut under Frazier's right nostril in the fourth round, then began to measure his punches and they began to land with greater frequency.

Each fighter was guaranteed $1 million plus 35 per cent of agreed upon rights, making the fight the richest non-title bout in history. The fight was shown on closed circuit television.

Cincinnati overpowers Cubs, 6-4

CINCINNATI — Bob Bailey's one-out pinch single scored Ed Armbrister in the eighth inning Tuesday night to break a 3-3 tie and the Cincinnati Reds went on to add two more runs and defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-4.

Johnny Bench touched off the winning rally by drawing a walk off loser Darold Knowles. After Armbrister ran for the Red catcher, Cesar Geronimo singled to center. Both runners advanced on Dave Concepcion's sacrifice and Bailey followed with his tie-breaking single.

Pete Rose singled home Geronimo with the second run of the inning before Knowles was replaced by Bruce Sutter. One out later, Joe Morgan drove in Ken Griffey, a pinch runner for Bailey, with a single to center.

Steve Renko started for the Cubs and was tagged for three runs, two of them earned, in the first inning when the Reds bunched an error by Manny Trillo with two walks and singles by George Foster and Bench.

The Cubs took on early 1-0 lead on the second wild pitch of the first inning by Gullet. Jose Cardenal, who had reached, on a single, scampered home from third base. Cardenal had reached on a single and moved to

Orioles top Sox

by BOB GALLAS

With owner Bill Veeck wheeling and dealing as the trading deadline approached, the White Sox dealt away a 4-0 decision to Baltimore Tuesday night to snap a nine-game Oriole loss skien while extending the Chicago losing streak to five games.

Jim Palmer, who had won only one game in the last month, was the winner in a duel with Sox right-hander Rich Gossage, who went the distance in a losing cause.

Veeck, who spent much of the day in trade talks with Baltimore and other clubs, was apparently unsuccessful as of late Tuesday in bringing some help to the Southsiders, who are slipping of late. Veeck didn't rule out any last minute deals before the deadline, which was 2 a.m. today.

The Orioles got all the runs they needed in the fourth when they scored three, the big blow coming off the bat of Lee May, who blasted a two-run homer off the right field upper deck. Baltimore added a run in the sixth when Mark Belanger got his second RBI of the night when he doubled in Reggie Jackson with the fourth Oriole run.

Both benches emptied in the sixth when Doug DeCinces threw his bat at Gossage on a swing. The incident left Gossage hopping mad.

"I've never thrown at anyone in my life," said Gossage. "A pitcher has to throw guys inside. I got under the ball and it kind of took off."

Gossage stormed back to the mound when order was restored and started firing pitches as fast and as hard as he could. He got DeCinces looking at strike three to end the inning.

Sox Manager Paul Richards thought DeCinces should have been thrown out of the ballgame for the bat-throwing. "He's (Gossage) never thrown at anyone. The way he throws sidarm the ball gets away from him a lot," Richards said.

And if we're going to throw at anybody we're not going to throw at 150 hitters like DeCinces," said Richards who shaved a few points off DeCinces' .230 batting average.

Palmer settled down after giving up a hit in the fourth and retired 12 Sox in a row before Chet Lemon singled with two out in the eighth. Palmer gave up only five scattered hits, striking out three while walking only one to record his seventh victory against seven defeats.

Gossage was in and out of trouble, giving up eight hits and five walks in nine innings, while striking out only three.

The Sox threatened in the third when they got men on second and third with nobody out, but Palmer got out of the jam.

Vehe earns ticket to Olympic Games

Bob Vehe, Mount Prospect, Ill., pedaled his bicycle 1,000 meters in 1:09.15 Tuesday night to win the 1,000-meter event of time trials for the U.S. Olympic bicycle team at Northbrook.

Vehe, who will represent the United States in the kilometer event at the summer Olympics in Montreal, was the first person to qualify for the U.S. bicycling team.

Thirty-three bicyclists from across the country are competing in the time trials, which will be completed Thursday night. Time trials for the sprints will be held Wednesday night and the 4,000-meter team competition will be held Thursday night.

Astrodome game 'rained in'

Rain forced the first cancellation of a sporting event in the Astrodome's 11-year history Tuesday, and members of the opposing baseball teams celebrated with a sit-down dinner on the infield in Houston.

"The (Pittsburgh) Pirates, and the (Houston) Astros have put up banquet tables on the infield and are sitting down for supper," a dome spokesman said. "It's not exactly a rain out; it's a rain in. We're bone dry inside."

The game was cancelled after more than 7 1/2 inches of rain flooded Houston streets and freeways, preventing fans from driving to the huge covered stadium.

"Probably less than 10 or 20 people got here, just a handful of real diehards," the spokesman said.

Colorful Jimmy Dykes dies

Jimie Dykes, whose colorful baseball career spanned almost 50 years, died early Tuesday in Philadelphia's Hahnemann Hospital at the age of 79.

At different times in his career, the cigar-smoking Dykes managed the Chicago White Sox, the Detroit Tigers, the Cincinnati Reds, Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians. He was also involved in one of baseball's most bizarre trades when general manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians swapped his manager Joe Gordon for Dykes, the Detroit Tiger manager, May 3, 1959.

In his 21-year major league career, Dykes batted .280 with 2,256 hits and drove in 1,075 runs. In three World Series with Connie Mack's A's, Dykes batted .288 with 11 RBI and also got two hits during the famous 10-run seventh inning of the A's staged in the fourth game of the 1929 series versus the Chicago Cubs.

Dykes was a player-manager with the White Sox from 1934 through 1939, the year he ended his active playing career with a .280 lifetime average.

Royals destroy Tigers, 20-7

Amos Otis knocked in five runs and Dave Nelson drove home four Tuesday night as the Kansas City Royals went on a season-high 24-hit splurge to pound the hosting Detroit Tigers 20-7 and extend their winning streak to seven straight.

After falling behind 2-0 in the first inning, the Royals began tearing into four Tiger pitchers and piled up 15 runs in the next three innings, scoring five in the second, four in the third and three in the sixth before cooling off somewhat.

Ashe has easy Wimbledon path

Top seed and defending champion Arthur Ashe will have a much easier path to the Wimbledon final than Jimmy Connors, according to the draw made Tuesday by officials of the All-England Lawn Tennis Club.

Ashe has a first round match against Ferdy Taygan, the 57th ranked U.S. player from Framingham, Mass., and could come up against Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia in the first clash of seeds in the third round. If the seedings go to plan, Ashe would then play Raul Ramirez of Mexico in the quarter-finals and Ilie Nastase in the semis.

Connors, seeded second to win back the men's singles crown Ashe took from him in last year's final, should have no problem against Antonio Zugarelli of Italy, primarily a clay court player, in the first round. But then Connors could meet Stan Smith, the 1972 champion, and also in his half are Roscoe Tanner, the No. 5 seed who beat him four days ago, and Bjorn Borg, who could be his semi-final opponent.

Braves receive warm ($) welcome

Enthusiasm began to build and ticket sales appeared to be surging Tuesday with the news that the Buffalo Braves will probably move to the Sportatorium in Hollywood, Fla., next season. The team has 8,000 telephone pledges for season tickets, but the first person to actually plunk down cash was Phil Youtie, a Fort Lauderdale dress shop owner, who handed over $4,788 for tickets for himself and 11 friends.

Tanner shot down in Nottingham

Mike Estep of Dallas ended Adriano Panatta's 18 match winning run Tuesday at the $100,000 John Player grass court tennis tournament, which also saw Roscoe Tanner, another recent winner, crash in the second round.

While Panatta, winner of the recent Italian and French Open clay court titles, and Tanner, last week's conqueror of Jimmy Connors at Beckenham and the tourney defending champ, were knocked out of the tournament, Connors continued his impressive Wimbledon buildup with the 6-4, 6-2 defeat of Australia's power serving Colin Dibley.

Evert plays tough despite illness

Chris Evert said Tuesday she had a "very worrying" case of laryngitis just six days before the start of Wimbledon but was her usual devastating self on court as she defeated two opponents to reach the fourth round of the $100,000 Colgate grass court tennis tournament in Eastbourne, England.

Chris, playing on grass for the first time since losing her Wimbledon crown to Billie Jean King one year ago, swept aside Annette DuPlooy of South Africa, 6-1, 6-1, with a minimum of effort after earlier defeating Christina Sandberg of Sweden, 6-3, 6-2, in a second round match.

And in other sports news...

Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics led the National Basketball Association (NBA) East All-Stars to a 114-106 victory over the West All-Stars Tuesday night in Tokyo... Tom Heinsohn of the Boston Celtics was re-elected president of the NBA Coaches Association for the third consecutive year...

A Penn Central Railroad conductor testified that a New York Nets basketball player, Brian Taylor, threatened to kill him when he asked the ballplayer to take his feet off the seat of the train. Team Tennis will expand from 10 to 12 teams next season and Margaret Court Smith is coming out of retirement to rejoin the Hawaii Lobs...

What to look for when you're looking for an air conditioner.

Before you choose an air conditioner, ask the dealer for its energy efficiency ratio. This number tells you the efficiency of a unit. An air conditioner with an EER number of 8 or above will be thrifty for you electrically.

The EER number is computed by dividing the BTUs by the watts. A 12,000-BTU unit that uses 1500 watts will rate an 8. If the EER doesn't appear on the tag or metal nameplate, use this simple formula yourself. It's a worthwhile exercise that can pay off in electric dollar savings over the long run.

Don't buy too much capacity. Surprisingly, an air conditioner that's too big usually won't keep you as comfortable as a smaller unit.

So measure the space to be cooled before you go to the dealer. Also note any doors that might let cool air escape, or windows that might let direct sunlight in. The dealer will have charts to translate your notes into the right air conditioner selection.

Some tips on cutting cooling costs. Keep the warm air out and the cool air in with proper insulation and weather stripping where you need it. Block out the sun by drawing drapes. And locate the air conditioner on the shady side of your house, making sure to seal any leaks in the window after you put it in.

And remember to keep the filter clean. Check your owner's manual to see if you should vacuum it or wash it. In either case, a good periodic cleaning will make your air conditioner more efficient, and save you money.

Another good way to save on your cooling costs is to get an automatic timer made especially for air conditioners. If you're going to be away from home for the day, you can set the timer to turn on the air conditioner an hour or so before you return in the evening. Your home will be more comfortable; your air conditioner will get most of the day off; and you'll save money on your electric bill.

It makes a lot of sense to buy an air conditioner that starts efficient and stays efficient. Saving energy always makes sense. And when summer's over, you'll find the extra care was worth it—in dollars and cents.

Regional sprinkling ban, $500 fine recommended

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Mayor choice on first ballot unlikely: Behrel

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert H. Behrel Tuesday predicted that the city council will not elect his successor on the first ballot.

Behrel, who will retire Aug. 6 after more than 19 years as mayor, said at his weekly press conference that he does not think any of the three candidates for acting mayor has the support of the majority of the city council.

The 16 members of the city council will cast a vote for one of the three Monday night, with the balloting continuing until one of the candidates obtains a majority.

"From what I can see right now, I don't know that anyone has the nine votes that are needed," Behrel said.

"It will be rather interesting, I guess."

Ald. Charles Bolek, 3rd, and Ald. John

The three candidates for acting mayor are Ald. George Olen, 2nd, Ald. Charles Bolek, 3rd, and Ald. John Seitz, 7th.

BEHREL SAID HE believes some aldermen will have to compromise if the city council is to elect an acting mayor.

"If they don't elect an acting mayor on the first ballot something is going to have to be done," he said. "It would be a little bit silly if they keep voting the same way on every ballot."

He said one way of resolving a stalemate would be for the candidate

'Magic number' passed for Carter nomination

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter.

The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support

A real milestone: Behrel

10 story 'super' bank gets a top

The new 10-story First National Bank building in Des Plaines was topped out Tuesday, with Mayor Herbert H. Behrel calling it "a great day for the city."

"It's a real milestone," Behrel said at the topping-out ceremony, marking construction of the 10th and final floor of the building on the Superblock. "There's nothing that makes me happier than to see the redevelopment program moving along."

The building is scheduled for completion in December.

The First National Bank building is part of Superblock, a $12 million joint venture by J.R. Gottlieb and Co., Chicago, and Erikson and Stevens, Inc., Des Plaines.

The ceremony, conducted atop the building, also was attended by Arthur Weiss, president of the First National Bank of Des Plaines, as well as a host of city and business officials.

THE BANK will occupy the lower level and the first two floors of the building, with the remainder of the space to be leased to other businesses.

The Superblock developers plan to break ground June 29 for a three-story enclosed shopping mall that will be constructed adjacent to the office building. The 140,000-square-foot mall, which will house 50 stores, a restaurant and several snack shops, is scheduled to open in March.

Spiegler's Department Store, Des Plaines, will be the shopping center's primary tenant, occupying 22,000 square feet on all three floors.

Superblock is bounded on the north by Ellinwood Street, on the south by Prairie Avenue, on the east by Pearson Street and on the west by Lee Street.

The Superblock developers are planning a second phase of downtown redevelopment after the office building and shopping mall is completed. The second phase would bring another 20 businesses to Des Plaines.

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

by Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

THIS MARY Hartman lives in Schaumburg, Ill., not the fictitious Fernwood, Ohio.

Dist. 59 special ed changes rapped

by JUDY JOBBITT

A group of more than 60 Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 parents with students in special education programs has protested the decentralization plan for the special services department and has demanded reinstatement of the former director.

In a letter given to the school board Monday, the parents stated their "primary demand is that Merle Nevenhoven be immediately reinstated as head of special education and student services departments." They stated that he is the "only individual" responsible for developing the current special education programs.

Nevenhoven was demoted from the director of the department to a psychologist's position in the district this year as part of a reorganization of the central administration. Merlyn Swanson currently is director of pupil personnel services.

The parents told the board their "second demand is that you immediately reject your decision as to the decentralization of the special education and student services department. It is unacceptable to us in every way."

THE PARENTS also asked that they be "included in any future decisions as to changes" in the special education program department.

Mary Kay Canupp, wife of board member Charles Canupp, who presented the letter to the board on behalf of the parents, said the parents were not satisfied with the answers they received from Supt. Roger Bardwell.

The goal of the decentralization plan is to place more people directly in contact with the students, Bardwell said Tuesday.

"The decentralization has not affected special education at all," he said. Bardwell said the instructors in the special education department are now assigned to a group of schools rather than to specific cases throughout the district as under the former system.

HE SAID this places more responsibility on the principal who, with the help of the teachers, must decide the number and type of special instructors needed in his building.

Bardwell said Swanson is responsible for overseeing the principals' decisions and ensuring that students are receiving the services they need.

Board president Judith Zanca said she sent a letter to the parents group stating the board hopes to have "bet-

In Buffalo Grove woman's death

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference

Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Hearing tonight on need for more day-care centers

Officials in Des Plaines will conduct a public hearing tonight to determine if more day-care centers are needed in the city.

Ald. Robert Sullivan, 2nd, chairman of the city council's health and welfare committee, said the meeting will be a "public forum" on the day-care situation in the city. The meeting is at 7 p.m. at the Des Plaines Civic Center, 1420 Miner St.

Sullivan said a sampling of public opinion will be sought to determine if city ordinances governing the operation of day-care centers should be revised. "All indications point to a great need for these kinds of services," he said. "I think the demand for day-care centers in Des Plaines far exceeds the supply."

SULLIVAN SAID he believes the city has taken some "prohibitive action" against day-care centers in the past "rather than solving the basic problem — the expanding social need for them."

The city council recently authorized the drafting of an ordinance creating more stringent requirements for daycare centers operated by churches. Churches now are exempt from zoning requirements pertaining to lot size, parking, play areas and hours of operation. If the ordinance is passed, they will have to conform to stricter standards.

"We want to find a way to create an environment which is conducive to day-care centers," he said. "We'd like to hear from female heads of households, day-care center operators and the general public on this so we can better understand the situation," Sullivan said.

Mayor choice on first ballot unlikely: Behrel

with the lowest number of votes to shift his support to one of the other candidates.

Behrel, who will not be allowed to cast a ballot for the acting mayor, has refused to throw his support to one of the candidates.

"I THINK WE have three reasonably capable people and think we should leave it up to the city council to choose one of them," he said.

Behrel, 70, announced more than a year ago that he would retire about eight months before his term expired to live in Sun City, Ariz. He will serve as a consultant to the city for one month after the acting mayor takes office.

The city council in March passed a resolution calling for the acting mayor to serve on a full-time basis at the $25,000 annual salary Behrel receives. The acting mayor will serve until the April 1977 municipal election.

CITY ATTY. Charles Hug said although the resolution calls for a full-time acting mayor, there is nothing that requires the candidates to put in 40 hours a week or give up their current jobs if elected.

Seitz, 45, of 427 Ardmore Rd., said he would work full-time in the position and if elected would take a leave of absence from his job as an associate professor of business at Oakton Community College. He said he will continue to work part-time as a public relations consultant.

Olen, 37, of 1570 Whitcomb Ave., and Bolek, 51, of 1388 Dennis Pl., said they will retain their current jobs and put in as much time as necessary as acting mayor. Olen is a consultant and sales representative for Midwest Concrete Products Inc., Franklin Park, and Bolek is president of Jeco Industries, Des Plaines.

Regional sprinkling ban, $500 fine recommended

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Water rates to go up 80% if hike Okd

Wheeling residents will see their water bills increase 80 per cent if village trustees adopt a water rate increase recommended by Assistant Village Mgr. Thomas Markus.

In a report Monday to board members, Markus said 90 cents per 1,000 gallons is "a more realistic figure" if Wheeling is to "establish the necessary reserves to offset the cost of needed improvements" to the village water system.

"The village, at the current rate of 50 cents, will not come close to making the necessary improvements to Wheeling's water system," Markus said. Village officials earlier proposed a 70 cent water rate, but Markus said that figure, too, is inadequate.

If approved by the village board, the rate would cost a homeowner using 10,000 gallons a month $9, an increase of $4 a month.

Markus said the village water system "is in dire need of literally millions of dollars worth of improvements," including about $3,665,000 in the next five years. Those improvements include new mains, and storage and treatment facilities. He said while village officials increased the water rate to 50 cents last year, the increase "was a long time coming" and "inadequate."

"WHEELING CURRENTLY is not overwhelming the public with excessive water rate charges, and I feel that the 90 cents per thousand gallons is a justified rate," he said. He cited neighboring communities where water rates range from 63 cents per 1,000 gallons in Arlington Heights, to $1.02 per gallon in Des Plaines.

Village Pres Ted C. Scanlon suggested the board postpone action on the recommendation until a study is made of progressive water rates in which "the more water is used, the more you pay." The concept is now being studied by the village's water and sewer committee.

A Chicago engineering consultant earlier this year told village officials they should double or triple water rates to pay for water system improvements. R. W. Lindley, who was prepared a report on ways to upgrade the system, said village water rates are "very low."

LINDLEY SAID the water department should be able to "support itself." He said water rate increases would allow the village "to provide a better quality water."

Lindley's report said the village water system is adequate to serve the population. He said the village will have to expand the system, however, to meet the demands of increasing population. He suggested several possibilities for improving the system, including the use of Lake Michigan water.

The village now supplies water from a system of wells. Lindley said the deep wells reportedly are losing water at a rate of 10 feet per year. He said the deep wells are "the most economical and provide the best quality water, but they have a limited life."

The village's shallow well system provides a steady supply of water, but has a high iron content, Lindley said. He said water from the wells can be improved by construction of filtration plants at the six shallow well sites for an estimated cost of $200,000.

Village trustees tentatively have selected two projects for the first stage of the $3.5 million water improvement program, including construction of filtration plants and expansion of water mains at Hintz and Schoenbeck roads.

Nystrom hits reasons for ouster

Vern C. Nystrom, former chairman of the Wheeling Police and Fire Commission, has told trustees their reasons for refusing to reappoint him to the commission are not valid.

Nystrom Monday told trustees that charges of nepotism shouldn't be a commission. Nystrom's wife Donna is a clerk for Wheeling Fire Chief Bernie Koepfen.

The fire and police commission controls the hiring, promotion, suspension and firing of police and fire department employees. Trustees turned down Nystrom's bid for reappointment May 24.

NYSTROM ALSO said that "personal friendships with members of this board and business relationships" shouldn't be considered in committee appointments. Nystrom is business partner with Michael Valenza, who was convicted in June 1974 of conspiracy to commit extortion.

"My contribution to the community alone should be the basis for reappointment," Nystrom said.

Trustee Ots L. Hedlund said there was a conflict of interest because Nystrom's wife works in the fire department.

"I think it's a bad situation and unfair to the fire department. It's a situation I couldn't tolerate," he said.

TRUSTEE William Hein said he wonders "what the hell is a conflict of interest."

"I think it's blown out of proportion on the national level, on the state level and in this village. It's time to use common sense," he said.

Hein said he believes Nystrom "has done an outstanding job" on the commission.

Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon said "people think everybody is evil."

"YOU'RE ASKED TO serve in government, then you're damned if you don't and damned if you do. It's a sad situation when people can't serve the community because somebody points

It's Carter on 1st ballot: survey

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter. The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow wax build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

THIS MARY Hartman lives in Schaumburg, Ill., not the fictitious Fernwood, Ohio.

School notes

Wheeling - Buffalo Grove

High School Dist. 214

Wheeling High School recently selected 36 girls out of 90 who tried out for Orchestras. They are juniors: Karen Black, Donna Brosio, Sandi Hansen, Julie Lewis, Joan Mazurek, Chris McGovern, Mary Ellen Olsen, Vicki Olsen, Audry Sommerfeld and Nancy Thomas.

Sophomores are: Vicki Carter, Alyssa Cole, Cindy Cook, Lisa Gerhardt, Charmaine Klien, Cheryl Mitchell, Jan Paulus, Vicki Vanderhoof and Alicia Weisensee.

Freshmen are: Maggie Bain, Kathy Bard, Carolyn Bifulco, Linda Booher, Clare Erickson, Debbie Fedyna, Dawn Fletcher, Marianne Miele, Carol Mitchell and Jean Proszek.

Alternates are Margo Schoemann and Jean Warsaw, sophomores and Michelle Bertrand, Elaine Dollen, Denise Seretis and Celeste Sharp, freshmen.

Kim Bailey, a junior, will be president of the group for 1976-77. Sponsor and director is Barb Rubin.

A memorial scholarship fund has been set up in honor of Michael Caruso, of Prospect Heights and a former senior at Hersey High School. He died in a canoe accident in New York in April.

His family set up the scholarship to be awarded annually to a graduating senior from Hersey in Arlington Heights. The scholarship will be awarded by a committee of faculty members on the basis of intellectual, social and emotional growth during high school.

Contributions may be sent to the Michael Caruso Memorial Scholarship, c/o Robert J. Hannon, Hersey High School, 1900 E. Thomas St., Arlington Heights, Ill. 60004.

The North High School Dist. 214 Symphony Orchestra, directed by Bruce Fowler, has been invited to perform at the 30th annual Midwest National Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago in December.

Only three high school orchestras were selected through taped audition for the clinic, which is the largest of its type in the United States. The Dist. 214 orchestra is composed of 81 students from Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Hersey and Wheeling high schools.

In general . . .

Teachers in High School Dist. 214, Mount Prospect Dist. 57, Elk Grove Township Dist. 59, Wheeling-Prospect Heights Dist. 21 and Arlington Heights Dist. 25 have cooperated this spring with the Illinois Council on Economic Education in a one-semester in-service program.

The purpose of the program was to provide basic information on the economic system so it could be used in classroom activities. The Elk Grove Assn. of Industry and Commerce was instrumental in helping initiate the program and providing speakers.

The course helped the 37 participating area teachers implement a program entitled "World of Work Economic Education" which was created by the Illinois Council on Economic Education and teachers to help educators instruct students about the importance of work in the community. One of the most important aspects of the curriculum is community involvement.

James Gherity, chairman of the Northern Illinois University Department of Economics and Judy Brenneke, assistant director for the council, taught most of the course.

Other sections of the course were taught by businessmen, including Tim Frisby of Frisby Manufacturing; William Carroll, ident of Plum Grove Bank; Carl Dalke, Illinois Consumer Finance Assn.; James Lancaster, President of the Bank of Elk Grove; William Bayuk, vice president, investment, Bank of Elk Grove; Virginia Alsbury, Illinois Bell Telephone Co.; Diane Phillips, Mass Feeding, Jewel Tea Co.; Jeff Schrader, vice president of A.B. Dick Co.; W. F. Lomasney, associate professor, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, consumer services; Stan Klyber, executive director of Elk Grove Village Chamber of Industry and Commerce, and Floyd Crane, professor of business education, Northern Illinois University.

Reunions

The 1966 Palatine High School graduating class reunion committee is looking for classmates for a 10-year reunion this August. If you have not been contacted, please call: 358-2384, 358-1072 or 991-1372, or write Doug Fulford, 256 N. Ashland, Palatine 60067.

The 23rd annual Stelametz High School Alumni Assn. picnic will be held at noon June 27 at the Lake Avenue Woods East, Euclid Road between Milwaukee Avenue and River Road. There will be games for everyone.

The Board of Governors of the association recently elected the following officers for the next two years: Louis Houkal, president; Earl Herzog, vice president; May Nelson, treasurer; Marge Graham, corresponding secretary; and Carol Machowski, recording secretary.

Dist. 214 wrapup

Attendance area change approved

A change in high school attendance boundaries for a small area of Buffalo Grove has been approved by the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education.

Students from the area, bounded on the east by Buffalo Grove Road, on the north by Dundee Road, on the west by Three States Boulevard and on the south by University Drive, now attend Wheeling High School. Monday, however, the board agreed to place the area within the Buffalo Grove High School attendance boundary.

Students from the area now attending Wheeling High School will be allowed to continue at the school if they wish. Students who will be freshmen next fall also will be allowed to attend Wheeling High. Other area students who wish to attend Wheeling High must seek approval of the administration. About 20 high school students now live in the area with four to six students at each grade level.

The change is the result of the completion of Buffalo Grove Road and the decision by Wheeling-Prospect Heights Dist. 21 earlier this year to reassign students in the area from London Junior High School to Cooper Junior High School. Dist. 214 in the past has attempted to adjust boundaries so that students from one junior high school attend the same area high school.

5% pay hike for aides OKd

Administrators in High School Dist. 214 will receive an average raise in salary of about 5 per cent for the 1976-77 school year.

The board of education Monday approved the distribution of about $150,000 among the district's 109 administrators. The distribution of the monies is based on merit and position on the salary scale in the six administrative categories. The average raise will be about 5 per cent.

Frosh must have physicals

No freshmen will be allowed to attend classes in Dist. 214 next fall without a physical examination and necessary immunizations. Students must meet the health requirements at the time of registration for classes. Registration begins the week of Aug. 16.

In Buffalo Grove woman's death

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said.

the evil finger at them," he said. Scanlon said village residents were once able to seek "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Now we've reached a peak where the pursuit of happiness can't be here."

Trustee Gilbert Monson said that Scanlon's "talk about the good old days and trusting people makes me want to vomit."

"In 1972 and 1973 there was more corruption per square mile in this town than in any other town in Cook County. As painful as reform is, a majority of the people voted for it," he said.

Trustee Charles Kerr said Scanlon and Hein should "identify this (village board) meeting as the kickoff for the WRP (Wheeling Representative Party) campaign." Hein was a member of the WRP during the April 1974 election.

Trustees John Cole, Donald Jackson, Hedlund, Kerr and Monson were members of the opposition Wheeling Improvement Party (WHIP), which pledged village reforms.

Body of Prospect Heights man found in New York

The body of an 18-year-old Prospect Heights man, reported missing since mid-April after a canoeing accident in upper New York state, was found Monday.

The body of Michael P. Caruso, 206 N. Elm St., was discovered about one mile below the Raquette River Falls and rapids where the senior at Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, was first reported missing.

Caruso and Leon Nelson Blair III, 18, of Lancaster, Pa., were on a 44-mile canoe trip up the river to Tupper Lake when their boat capsized.

New York State Police said a caretaker of the Raquette River Falls conservation headquarters discovered the body late Monday.

STATE POLICE identified the body using dental x-rays that were supplied by the Caruso family dentist. Caruso is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Caruso.

Forest rangers and state police had searched continually along the river, which is part of the Adirondack State Park, since the accident.

Authorities initially were alerted to the mishap when Blair was discovered in a cabin on the shores of the river.

Blair, apparently washed ashore, wandered in the woods for five days before breaking into the cabin in search of food, state police officials said.

BLAIR TOLD police that his canoe overturned April 19 while the youths der," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo

Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin

O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Bus system quality hearing tonight

Wheeling residents will be able to offer their opinions about the operation of the village bus system at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. today at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

Village trustees authorized the hearing at the request of Assistant Village Mgr. Thomas Markus, who said the bus system has been "highly criticized and obviously will never meet the funding requirements of the Regional Transportation Authority."

Markus last month proposed the hearings to consider route changes or possible elimination of the village bus system. He said the village has received many complaints from residents and the "general consensus is that it's a poor design."

Village trustees have suggested replacing the bus system with a special bus for senior citizens. Wheeling officials also have suggested subsidized taxi rides for senior citizens as an alternative to the village bus system.

The bus system costs about $45,000 annually, but the village receives about $2,000 a year from fares. An RTA trial grant that funds the bus service expires June 30.

THE BUS SYSTEM has been operating at a loss since it began more than three years ago.

An RTA official earlier this month said the village bus system is costing too much money and that funding "can't go on indefinitely." D. Daniel Baldino, RTA board member from Evanston, said revenue figures for the bus system indicate the Wheeling bus is producing too little revenue and costing too much to operate.

RTA statistics show that the bus system was earning only 23 cents per passenger, while operation costs are $2.66 per passenger. Operating cost per mile is $1.01 while revenue per mile is only 9 cents. In the last nine months, the bus has carried only 1,579 passengers.

Markus said RTA officials and representatives of the North Suburban Transit District (NORTRAN) will attend the hearing.

Woman faces charges in shooting of deputies

by TIM MORAN

and JAN GEHRIG

A Lake Bluff woman is being held without bond on charges of murder and attempted murder following the shooting of two Lake County Sheriff's deputies Monday night.

Deputy Gary D. Murphy, 30, of Waukegan, died Tuesday morning at Lake Forest Hospital. He had been shot in the abdomen.

Deputy David Greene, 33, of Mundelein, who was shot in the arm, remained in intensive care in stable condition Tuesday. Greene is "holding his own," according to his mother, Mrs. Rudy Laskowski of Buffalo Grove.

VIRGINIA PIGGOTT, 51, of Knollwood, has been charged in the incident. She is a retired Army major with 20 years of service, said Lake County State's Atty. Jack Hoogasian.

Bond was denied to Ms. Piggott at her arraignment Tuesday morning. She also was denied a public defender. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Thursday morning in the case, Hoogasian said.

Sheriff's deputies had answered a call at 8 p.m. about someone shooting at a playground where children were playing in Knollwood, said Sheriff E. J. LaMagdeleine.

The sheriff said Ms. Piggott came out the side door with a revolver in her hand, after a deputy had arrived, and fired five shots in the air and two at the deputy.

MORE DEPUTIES were called to the scene, along with Lake Forest and Lake Bluff police and a Lake Forest rescue squad.

Sheriff's deputies attempted for two hours to get Ms. Piggott to surrender prior to throwing tear gas into the building, LaMagdeleine said.

Ms. Piggott fired several shots out the window when the tear gas was thrown in, and she then came out the garage door and onto the driveway, the sheriff said.

"She sat down or slid down to slouching position, and we believed she was reloading her weapon. The deputies were ordered to rush her, and three or four did. One knocked her over onto her face, and she rolled over onto her back and fired one round, which passed through Deputy Greene's left arm and into Deputy Murphy," LaMagdeleine said.

Gifted program talk tonight

Implementation of a program for gifted students for the 1976-77 school year will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. today by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 Board of Education.

Blood donor drive slated June 22

Wheeling village employees will sponsor a blood drive from 2 to 5 p.m. June 22 at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Any Wheeling resident who is in good health, weighs at least 110 pounds and is between the ages of 17 and 66 is eligible to donate blood.

North Suburban Blood Center officials said summer is the most difficult time for blood donations although the need for blood is constant. To schedule an appointment, call Meredith Tripp, chairman of the Wheeling Board of Health, 537-3289.

Alternative proposals to provide for the education of the district's gifted students were distributed to board members by Assistant Supt. Gerald McGovern last week.

McGovern and the administration had been requested by the board in May to draw up plans for a gifted program that would provide the most services for the least amount of district funds.

The board was informed last month that the district had cut back on training teachers to instruct gifted children when state funding for the gifted program was cut in October.

Board members said they mitted to a district gifted program and wanted to consider some alternatives the district could afford.

The meeting will be held at the district office, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights.

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in northwest by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Carpenter seized in woman's murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15; and

Phyllis Anderson

Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today.

Trustees cut meet to show concern

Buffalo Grove trustees, upset over the shooting of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Anderson, 986 Cambridge Dr., cut the village board meeting short Monday to express its "concern."

"As relatively worthless as words are to a family at a time like this, we express our concern because they have been a nice family and good friends and neighbors of the village," said Trustee Thomas Mahoney, speaking for the board.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson called the incident "disturbing."

Phyllis Anderson was killed and her husband seriously wounded by a gang of youths on the South Side of Chicago after they and three of their six children were forced off the Dan Ryan Expressway by a heavy rainstorm and became stranded in an unfamiliar neighborhood.

The meeting adjourned at 9:45 p.m. after consideration of only two of six items on the agenda. The board approved a new concession operator for the golf course food and bar operations and approved an application for a federal sewer inspection program.

Items not covered by the board were consideration of a veterinary clinic, changes in the village zoning ordinance, new planning procedures and a Bicentennial presentation.

Larson, said most items would be referred to next week's meeting.

Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Car dealer expansion to be heard

A request to expand Grand Spaulding Dodge to adjacent vacant property near the Mill Creek subdivision and to create a park site nearby will be the subject of a public hearing tonight before the Buffalo Grove Plan Commission.

The commission may make a recommendation to the village board on the request following the hearing. The panel will meet at 8 p.m. in the village hall, 50 Raupp Blvd.

A proposal by Centex Homes of Illinois Inc., Palatine, to change plans for construction of 288 units near Weiland and Lake-Cook roads also will be presented.

It's Carter on 1st ballot: survey

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday.

On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter. The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 268.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 883, with 96 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Arles, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

THIS MARY Hartman lives in Schaumburg, Ill., not the fictitious Fernwood, Ohio.

Woman held for murder

Charges filed in deputies' attack

by TIM MORAN and JAN GEHRIG

A Lake Bluff woman is being held without bond on charges of murder and attempted murder following the shooting of two Lake County Sheriff's deputies Monday night.

Deputy Gary D. Murphy, 30, of Waukegan, died Tuesday morning at Lake Forest Hospital. He had been shot in the abdomen.

Deputy David Greene, 33, of Mundelein, who was shot in the arm, remained in intensive care in stable condition Tuesday. Greene is "holding his own," according to his mother, Mrs. Rudy Laskowski of Buffalo Grove.

VIRGINIA PIGGOTT, 51, of Knollwood, has been charged in the incident. She is a retired Army major with 20 years of service, said Lake County State's Atty. Jack Hoogasian.

Bond was denied to Ms. Piggott at her arraignment Tuesday morning. She also was denied a public defender. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Thursday morning in the case, Hoogasian said.

Sheriff's deputies had answered a call at 8 p.m. about someone shooting at a playground where children were playing in Knollwood, said Sheriff E. J. LaMagdeleine.

The sheriff said Ms. Piggott came out the side door with a revolver in her hand, after a deputy had arrived, and fired five shots in the air and two at the deputy.

MORE DEPUTIES were called to the scene, along with Lake Forest and Lake Bluff police and a Lake Forest rescue squad.

Sheriff's deputies attempted for two hours to get Ms. Piggott to surrender prior to throwing tear gas into the building, LaMagdeleine said.

Ms. Piggott fired several shots out the window when the tear gas was thrown in, and she then came out the garage door and onto the driveway, the sheriff said.

"She sat down or slid down to a slouching position, and we believed she was reloading her weapon. The deputies were ordered to rush her, and three or four did. One knocked her over onto her face, and she rolled over onto her back and fired one round, which passed through Deputy Greene's left arm and into Deputy Murphy," LaMagdeleine said.

to townhouse, duplex and single-family units.

Grand Spaulding proposes to purchase 16 acres near Arlington Heights and Dundee roads and donate 3.3 acres as a public park. The land is now zoned for multifamily development.

The dealership plans to expand its vehicle display lot on nine acres along Dundee Road, retaining about 3.5 acres for future expansion.

The proposed park would be combined with an existing well site and would run from Dundee Road south to the Mill Creek Apartments.

Several months ago plans for a commercial and apartment development on the site were rejected by the village board after residents objected.

Federal grant for inspection of sewers asked

An application for a federal sewer inspection program that may cost the village $45,000 has been approved by the Buffalo Grove Village Board.

Under terms of the application, the Environmental Protection Agency will fund 75 per cent of approved sewer inspection costs which could amount to $178,700, said Village Engineer Arnold Seaberg.

The board Monday assured the federal agency that if the full amount was approved, it could allocate the remaining 25 per cent.

"YOU HAVE to put up some money in order to pursue some money," Seaberg told the board.

Seaberg said it was unlikely the program will cost the village the full amount because some of the costs already are budgeted.

Seaberg already trimmed $24,000 from the original cost estimates by proposing use of village personnel for the inspections. He estimated labor costs at $32,000, based on hiring a three-man crew at $9 per hour.

The village is applying for the first of a three-step program to inspect, rehabilitate and reconstruct its sanitary sewer system. If this first step is approved, the remaining two probably will be approved later, Seaberg said.

was to meet a June 30 application deadline.

Village Treasurer James Shirley told the board that it has enough money to assure the EPA of $45,000.

"I PERSONALLY think you're in good shape even if you had to pay the full $45,000 in one year," he said. "We certainly have the cash now."

Shirley said if the village had to present the money "up front," it could dip temporarily into reserve funds if it had to.

Seaberg said the three-step program could take 18 to 24 months to complete. Costs for the other two steps, also funded 75 per cent by the EPA, would be approved later.

Items included in the application for the first step are manual inspection of the sewers, smoke testing and back-up testing, sewer cleaning, installation and operation of television cameras inside the sewers and formulation of the final inspection report.

Red Cross first aid offered by parks

An American Red Cross Standard First Aid Course will be offered this summer by the Red Cross and Buffalo Grove Park District.

The six-week course begins at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Aquadome, Arlington Heights and Dundee roads. Each session will last three hours.

The instructor for the course is David Grupp, a paramedic and chief of the Long Grove Fire Dept. There is no fee for the course, but a textbook that costs less than $2 is required and will be available at the class.

Clavey lawyers to seek new trial this week

Attorneys for former Lake County Sheriff Orville Clavey plan to file a motion for a new trial this week.

Clavey was convicted on one count of perjury and three counts of income tax evasion 10 days ago.

George Collins, Clavey's attorney, told The Herald Monday that he intends to file a motion for a new trial today or Thursday. The deadline is Friday.

Collins said that one of the reasons for asking for a new trial is the "inconsistency" of the verdict. The jury had acquitted Clavey of three other counts of perjury and one count of extortion.

The perjury counts were related to the income tax charges. Clavey was convicted of one count of perjury concerning an illegal kickback during one year, but was convicted of income tax evasion for three years.

There are several other technical and legal reasons for asking for a new trial, Collins said.

Hospital alters plan to pay for improvements

Alexian Brothers Medical Center officials, because of the improved money market, have decided to seek conventional financing instead of municipal bonds to pay for improvements and expansion of the hospital's facilities.

Parents insist special ed chief be reinstated

by JUDY JOBBITT

A group of more than 60 Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 parents with students in special education programs has protested the decentralization plan for the special services department and has demanded reinstatement of the former director.

In a letter given to the school board Monday, the parents stated their "primary demand is that Merle Nevenhoven be immediately reinstated as head of special education and student services departments." They stated that he is the "only individual" responsible for developing the current special education programs.

Nevenhoven was demoted from the director of the department to a psychologist's position in the district this year as part of a reorganization of the central administration. Merlyn Swanson currently is director of pupil personnel services.

The parents told the board their "second demand is that you immediately reject your decision as to the decentralization of the special education and students services department. It is unacceptable to us in every way."

THE PARENTS also asked that they be "included in any future decisions as to changes" in the special education program department.

Mary Kay Canupp, wife of board member Charles Canupp, who presented the letter to the board on behalf of the parents, said the parents were not satisfied with the answers they received from Supt. Roger Bardwell.

The goal of the decentralization plan is to place more people directly

Brother Felix Bettendorf, administrator of the Elk Grove Village hospital, said Tuesday that the mortgage market has "softened," allowing the hospital to undertake $4 million in improvements in several phases. He said these phases would be spread over an extended period.

The hospital had asked Elk Grove Village to authorize issuance of $23 million in tax-exempt municipal bonds. The $23 million would have represented the $4 million planned improvements, $14 million to refinance old debts incurred in construction of an unfinished wing and medical center, $1 million to cover costs of issuing the bonds and $3 million for an escrow account.

BROTHER FELIX said the hospital would not approach the village again for financing unless the mortgage market changed.

The Elk Grove Village Board in May, 1975 tentatively agreed to lend its name to the bond issue pending favorable reports on the hospital's ability to repay the bonds out of operating revenue.

At that time, the proceeds for the bonds were to be used to complete the medical office building, numerous outpatient departments, education facilities, parking lots, intensive-care and coronary-care units, and a surgical recovery room.

A preliminary report said the bond issue would be feasible if tax-exempt bonds were used, renovation construction did not exceed $4 million and at least 60 per cent of the physician's offices in the new Alexian Brothers Medical Plaza were leased.

A TENTATIVE date of Oct. 1, 1975, was set for sale of the bonds, but final financial and feasibility studies were not completed in time. In January, the hospital's board of trustees decided to postpone a decision until March 15.

George Coney, Elk Grove Village Finance Director, said the village has been notified of the hospital's new decision and has dropped further consideration of the issue.

The Alexian Brothers request was similar to one made in 1974 by Northwest Community Hospital to the Village of Arlington Heights. The village board agreed to lend its name to a $20.5 million bond sale.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

High School Dist. 214

A memorial scholarship fund has been established in honor of Michael Caruso of Prospect Heights, a former student at Hersey High School. He died in a canoe accident in New York in April.

His family established the scholarship, to be awarded annually to a graduating senior from Hersey in Arlington Heights. The scholarship will be awarded by a committee of faculty members on the basis of intellectual, social and emotional growth during high school.

Contributions to the fund may be sent to the Michael Caruso Memorial Scholarship c/o Robert J. Hannon, Hersey High School, 190 E. Thomas St., Arlington Heights, Ill. 60004.

The North High School Dist. 214 Symphony Orchestra, directed by Bruce Fowler, has been invited to perform at the 30th annual Midwest National Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago in December.

Only three high school orchestras were selected through taped auditions for the clinic, the largest of its type in the United States.

The Dist. 214 orchestra is composed of 81 students from Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Hersey and Wheeling high schools.

Reunions

The 23rd annual Steinmetz High School Alumni Assn. picnic will be held at noon June 27 at the Lake Avenue Woods East, Euclid Road between Milwaukee Avenue and River Road. There will be games for everyone.

The Board of Governors of the association recently elected the following officers for two-year terms: Louis Houkal, president; Earl Herzog, vice president; May Nelson, treasurer; Marge Graham, corresponding secretary; and Carol Machowski, recording secretary.

In Buffalo Grove woman's death

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital. Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

in contact with the students, Bardwell said Tuesday.

"The decentralization has not affected special education at all," he said. Bardwell said the instructors in the special education department are now assigned to a group of schools rather than to specific cases throughout the district as under the former system.

HE SAID this places more responsibility on the principal who, with the help of the teachers, must decide the number and type of special instructors needed in his building.

Bardwell said Swanson is responsible for overseeing the principals' decisions and ensuring that students are receiving the services they need.

Board president Judith Zanca said she sent a letter to the parents group stating the board hopes to have "better utilization of our staff" through the new plan. She said the board is "proud of our special education program" and that each school will have a full special services staff.

Mrs. Zanca said the board does not intend to reinstate Nevenhoven or change the current organization of special education staffing.

For districts' evidence on issue

Unit hearing funds termed legal

by JUDY JOBBITT

High School Dist. 214 and Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 may legally spend funds to present evidence at unit school district hearings, according to an opinion from the Illinois Office of Education.

Julia Dempsey, IOE legal adviser, said Tuesday that her opinion, sent to Cook County Schools Supt. Richard Martwick, clarifies the question.

She said the type of expenditures approved by the districts to date in relation to the unit district are legal within her interpretation of the law.

The clarification was requested by Martwick's office following an opinion from Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott on June 1.

SCOTT'S OPINION stated that a school board "may not expend school district funds to promote or oppose the formation of a unit school district."

William Wallin, chief of the opinion division in Scott's office, said Tuesday the opinion was "talking about spending funds at the referendum stage — whether a school district could campaign one way or another."

He said the opinion referred to a case in Vermilion County and states that a district cannot use school district funds to promote or oppose a unit district referendum.

Mrs. Dempsey said it is "reasonable" to expect school districts to present information at the unit district hearings that would support or oppose the petition. She said expenditures related to presenting the information would be appropriate.

MRS. DEMPSEY said it is "unreasonable" to demand a school district to present evidence without taking a stand on the issue. "If no one from the school district would be allowed to expend funds to present their side, it would be one sided," she said.

Mrs. Dempsey said she believes Scott was addressing the specific question of influencing the voters' when the issue reached the referendum stage.

She said a school board "almost has a duty to present evidence" at the hearings so all sides can be heard.

She referred to a section in the Illinois School Code that sets the requirements for the unit district petition process. She said for affected school districts to have a "role at a hearing held on a petition proposing formation of a community unit school district" as authorized in the statutes and "to fulfill that role, school district funds may be expended. This has been the long standing practice in Illinois and is the only sensible reading of the statutes."

DIST. 59 spent $8,500 to hire a consultant to update information on a unit district for the elementary district's area. The original study cost $18,000 and $20,000 and was used as the base for this year's study.

Dist. 59 also has hired the law firm of Reid, Ochenschlager, Murphy and Hupp for advice on the hearing procedures that will begin July 8.

Dist. 214 has retained the law firm of Fawell, James and Brooks for advice in opposing the unit district. The board has paid the firm $6,525 said Robert Weber, associate superintendent for business services.

The high school district also has hired a court reporter to make transcripts of all unit district study committee meetings and published a special edition of the district's newsletter in March urging the community to oppose the unit district.

THE DIST. 214 board has voted to oppose the unit district. Dist. 59 has not taken formal action to oppose or support the unit district but two board members are on a committee of 10 residents who filed the unit district petitions with the county office.

Mrs. Dempsey said she does not believe any of the districts' expenditures are improper because they were not taken in relation to a specific referendum before the voters.

"I don't see any impropriety at all. It's too far removed from the opportunity to influence the voters," she said.

Before the issue can come before the voters, hearings must be set in which evidence will be presented on the issue. The county superintendent will make a recommendation to the state schools' superintendent who will review the material presented and decide whether a referendum will be held.

Village seeking grant for dial-a-ride system

Elk Grove Village officials hope to complete a Regional Transportation Authority demonstration grant application for a dial-a-ride system before the July 30 deadline.

"We're going to try," said Trustee Nancy L. Vanderweel Tuesday. "The application form is unreal." She said the form requires multi-paragraph answers to almost every question. Statistical information and backup information on the village's previous experience with a bus system.

UP TO $100,000 a year per project, for a maximum two years, is available under the RTA's new service development/demonstration grant program. However, 25 per cent of the program cost must be paid locally.

The village board's transportation committee decided June 1 to seek three types of public transportation: a commuter bus to the Arlington Heights train station, a feeder bus line to the Jefferson Park Chicago Transit Authority rapid transit and bus terminal, and a dial-a-ride local service.

"We're going to work on the dial-a-ride application first," Mrs. Vanderweel said. "If we have enough time, we'll work on the other two also."

She said she has been told by an RTA official that the grant preference is for a dial-a-ride system over a commuter system.

LOCAL OFFICIALS hope a dial-a-ride system, which will use taxi cabs and buses, will not cost more to operate than the village's previous dial-a-ride bus service. During the time it operated, from March 1974 to August 1975, riders paid 17 per cent of the costs.

Mrs. Vanderweel said that if the ridership percentage remains the same, the village's portion of costs would drop from 25 per cent to 8 per cent. Assuming the operating costs stayed at $2,300, the village would pay $184 monthly for the service.

"That I think we could handle," she said. "But if it (the monthly cost) comes up to an amount greater than that ($2,300), we may not be able to handle it."

Seminar on jobs offered at library

The Elk Grove Village Public Library, 101 Kennedy Blvd., will sponsor a seminar at 8 p.m. Thursday on "How To Get Into the Working World."

The free seminar, to be held at the library, is designed to help those reentering the job market or trying to get their first full-time job. Subjects to be covered include resumes, interviews and career development.

The panelists will be Reta Trevor, coordinator of the women's programs at Harper College; Callie Cram, manager of the non-technical division of Crown Personnel; and Barbara Ross, manager of Kelly Services.

Regional sprinkling ban, $500 fine recommended

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member villages, boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Officials submit priorities

Bus line, train station listed top transit items

A commuter bus service and a Schaumburg train station along the Milwaukee Road line are the top transportation priorities for the Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg area, the villages' representatives told area transit officials Tuesday night.

The commuter bus service, proposed in the village's $28,000 joint transportation study, is needed because of the critical lack of parking space available at the Milwaukee Road's Roselle train station, which most area commuters use, the representatives told members of the Northwest Suburban Mass Transit District. The train station, sought for more than five years, will help solve commuter congestion problems for not only Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, but surrounding communities as well, according to the village spokesman.

THE PRIORITIES were outlined Tuesday night by Schaumburg Planner Alan Saunders and transportation committee chairman Fred Dietrich during a meeting with transit district officials. Hoffman Estates Trustee Melvin Timmons also briefly attended the session.

The session was one of a series of meetings the transit district is holding with its member communities to prepare an area transit needs study, which will be presented to the Regional Transportation Authority.

Lois Geister, executive director for the district, said the sessions will provide "preliminary inventory data" of area transportation needs. The study is expected to be completed by next year, she said.

Dietrich and Saunders termed the commuter bus service proposed by the two villages the "first" priority for the area. An application for an RTA grant to help fund a trial bus service already is being prepared, they added.

BUT BOTH MEN said the train station, planned west of Rodenburg Road, is another vital need.

"That commuter station in Schaumburg would solve a lot of municipal problems," Saunders said.

The Milwaukee Road has received a $100,000 funding grant from the Illinois Dept. of Transportation to build the station. However, the money will not be released until Cook County officials approve funds to extend Springing Road south to the station site.

The roadwork is estimated to cost about $2 million.

Other priorities cited by Dietrich and Saunders include a bus service for the elderly and handicapped and a service to take persons who live and work in the area to their jobs.

Citizens' views sought on park district merger

A University of Illinois consultant team will interview leading citizens of Hoffman Estates as part of a study into a proposed park district merger with the village.

Park Board Pres. George Rush said Monday the park district and the village will give the consultants names of the village's leading citizens. The citizens will be asked for information and opinions on the proposed merger, he added.

The university consultants met briefly with trustees and park commissioners Sunday night to outline plans for the merger study.

Consultants toured the park district's recreational facilities Monday morning, Rush said.

Rush said the consultants told him they will return in two weeks to conduct the interviews.

THE MERGER ORIGINALLY was proposed by Comr. Thomas Barber last December as a way to consolidate recreation services in the village.

Merger talks were terminated temporarily Jan. 15 after Village Pres. Virginia Hayter charged Barber was using the merger in an attempt to fire Park Director Allen Binder.

Village trustees requested resumption of the talks Feb. 2 when Mrs. Hayter suggested the hiring of outside consultants to study the matter. In March the park district pulled out of the merger talks, but agreed to cooperate with the consultants.

BATON TWIRLING isn't as easy as it looks, Jan Waggoner, 8, will tell you. But she's learning the techniques at the Hoffman Estates Park District's summer baton classes held at Twinbrook Park.

More data sought on rink buy

The Hoffman Estates Park District study into the possible purchase of the Woodfield Hockey Center has been extended two weeks to gather more information.

Park District Pres. George Rush said Tuesday night the building and grounds committee still needs information on land values and real estate before any decisions can be made.

Rush said the committee report on the financial status of the center, 1130 E. Remington Rd., Schaumburg, will remain confidential because it involves "potential land acquisition."

"We would do the park district and the owners of the hockey center a great disservice if we were to openly discuss this," Rush said.

Rush said the district is not in negotiations, "but if we were to enter into negotiations, we would want our cloak of privacy."

Trial for Regan extends to June 21

The jury trial of James Regan, former Schaumburg policeman who faces charges of theft, was continued from Monday to June 21 in the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

Regan reportedly requested the continuance. He allegedly was involved in a July 1975 theft of an air conditioner and lawnmower from the Walden apartment complex in Schaumburg.

The Schaumburg police and fire commission May 15 fired Regan after it upheld 21 departmental misconduct charges against him.

Conant band wins fourth place

The Conant Cougar Marching Band placed fourth in the national marching band competition at Whitewater, Wis., during the weekend and its auxiliary unit was named the best in the competition.

The band, from Conant High School, 700 E. Cougar Tr., Hoffman Estates, joined other selected bands throughout the nation in the competition.

Pat Ortman, public relations director for the band, said the band was chosen to compete after contest directors reviewed the band's competition record.

The competition was broadcast on Channel 11 Saturday night. Bands placing first through third were from California, Dundee, Ill., and Michigan.

Conant's auxiliary unit is composed of students performing with rifles, flags and sabres.

The Conant band leaves Thursday for the Midwest National Competition in Rock Falls, Ill., where it will compete with 25 bands. The unit also will perform in a parade and a show in Dakota, Ill., during the weekend.

The band leaves June 25 for competitions in Aurora, Ill., and in Oregon, Wis.

It's Carter on 1st ballot: survey

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed to leaning to Carter. The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidates in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow wax build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the local natural at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Artes, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

THIS MARY Hartman lives in Schaumburg, Ill., not the fictitious Fernwood, Ohio.

Committee wrapup

Ethics code study scheduled Tuesday

The Hoffman Estates Judiciary Committee will meet Tuesday to analyze the proposed ethics ordinance covering village officials.

Turster Jeanne Pavey will conduct the session, scheduled as a continuation of the committee's Monday meeting.

Mrs. Pavey said a "page-by-page" discussion of the ordinance will take place.

The code, pending before the committee since February, has been criticized by some village officials, including Trustee William Cowin and Plan Commission Chairman Richard Regan. Cowin is a realty agent, a profession which is restricted by terms of the code.

Trustee Melvin Timmons, committee chairman, said Monday he has received several written opinions on the code from village employees. He did not release the opinions to the public.

Swim pool action deferred

The committee deferred action on a revised ordinance for public and private swimming pools.

Committee members said they would need more time to study proposed revisions made by the board of health and recommended by Village Health Director James Demos.

The revised ordinance clarifies rules on the operation and construction of swimming pools, including fencing requirements.

Left-turn ban approved

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference

Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Comprehensive plan meeting

The first stage of the comprehensive plan for development in Schaumburg will be discussed Thursday when village board members meet in committee at 8 p.m. at the village Civic Center, 101 S. Schaumburg Ct.

The plan is being developed by consultants Nathan Barnes and Associates under the supervision of Village Planner Alan Saunders.

It is being paid for with a $40,000 federal planning grant approved by the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development. The money is available to communities under the U.S. Housing and Community Development Act.

The committee meeting was requested by Trustee Edward G. Olsen, who said he believes Saunders and the consultants could benefit from "input" from the village board and community groups.

Representatives of the consulting firm have said they also will schedule public hearings before the comprehensive plan is completed.

Some village officials contend

Schaumburg has had a master plan since shortly after its incorporation in 1956.

The plan they refer to is a series of maps that suggest land use in several areas of the village. It was prepared by former Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher and a group of persons who owned land in Schaumburg when the town was chartered.

LeBeau calls session

Joint meeting proposed on township youth woes

Officials from area schools and park districts will be asked to join Schaumburg Township, Hoffman Estates, and Schaumburg leaders at an August meeting to discuss youth problems.

The meeting has been called to determine what problems exist for the youth of Schaumburg Township and to determine ways of solving the problems, Schaumburg Trustee Raymond LeBeau said.

LeBeau last week led a two-hour discussion with officials from Schaumburg Township, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg in the Schaumburg Civic Center, 101 S. Schaumburg Ct.

MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS agreed to exchange minutes of youth commission meetings and meetings of public safety committees to prepare for the August meeting.

Schaumburg officials also will review an anti-vandalism proposal prepared last year by Hoffman Estates Village Pres. Virginia Hayter, who outlined monthly activities for community leaders to use in preparing youth programs.

The proposal originally was made for the now defunct "Be Aware, Be Thankful" anti-vandalism group.

Officials also agreed that preparing a master list of all activities in the Schaumburg Township area would aid young persons this summer.

"MAYBE WE NEED to go to the kids and ask them, 'What do you need?'" Mrs. Hayter said. "We are assuming that everyone is growing up like we grew up. That's just not true."

Schaumburg Trustee Al Larson said young persons have complained they need cars for many events they wish to attend.

LeBeau criticized the park districts in both villages for providing little for junior high and high school age persons.

Pat Dusenbury, Hoffman Estates Youth Commission chairman, told the group that the park districts "want little kids to grow up fast and not bother anybody."

She said the Hoffman Estates area will have 2,500 young persons this summer "with nothing to do."

Seltzer resigns Dist. 54 job 'with mixed emotion'

Carl Seltzer, assistant superintendent for curriculum, has submitted his resignation to the Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Board of Education.

Seltzer said he has accepted a position as national manager for the educational division of A. Daigler, Inc., Chicago.

"I leave the district with mixed emotions," Seltzer said Tuesday. "I've really enjoyed my job and hate to leave, but this was an opportunity I just couldn't afford to pass up."

Seltzer said he will be based in Chicago but will spend a great deal of his time traveling. "My territory is the U.S.," he said.

Part of the duties of the division he will head will be to conduct seminars for business and industry, he said. He believes one of his first projects will concern teaching the metric system to employees of large firms.

Seltzer has been with Dist. 54 for eight years, four of them as a math consultant and four as assistant superintendent for curriculum. Prior to coming to the district, he was a math teacher in St. Louis.

His resignation is effective July 1.

Rock concert tonight

The Schaumburg Park District will sponsor a free outdoor rock concert at 8 p.m. today featuring the group "Horizon."

The concert will be on Spring-insguth Road property between Jane Addams Junior High School and Atcher Pool.

"Horizon" will include selections done by the Moody Blues, King Crimson and the Band.

Regional sprinkling ban, $500 fine recommended

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

Parking major factor in growth of Holiday Inn

A five-story, 143-room addition and extensive remodeling is proposed for the Holiday Inn, 3405 Algonquin Rd., Rolling Meadows.

Construction, however, hinges on the availability of adequate parking.

Representatives of the Holiday Inn appeared Tuesday before the city's building, zoning and public works committee to discuss their plan. Developers said they planned to seek a variation in the zoning ordinance June 29 before the city's zoning board of appeals.

AT PRESENT, the Holiday Inn uses an adjacent property for parking after 5 p.m. A spokesman for Holiday Inn said that when Holiday Inn management sold an adjacent property southwest of the hotel site, they received parking rights for 100 spaces.

If the city allows the developer to count these spaces as part of the necessary parking requirements, the developer will not require a zoning variation.

Ald. Thomas Waldron, 2nd, chairman of the public works committee, told Holiday Inn representatives they should seek a legal opinion from City Atty. Donald Rose on city parking restrictions before appearing before the zoning board of appeals or making application for building permits.

"The expansion of the facility would be nice for the city. I like the idea of a domed swimming pool and the other things you have planned. But I still think you may be planning too many units for your own good," Waldron said.

WALDRON SUGGESTED the developer cut the number of units so as not to need a variation in the parking regulations.

Ald. Frederick Jacobson, 5th, said "You may be cutting your own throats by having so few parking places. I like the plans, however, and do believe it would be an asset to the city."

A Holiday Inn spokesman said he will seek the attorney's opinion. He also said about 35 per cent of the hotel's business is airport business.

"Many of our customers arrive by bus or limousine and do not need parking spaces," he said.

Meyer to seek opinion on appointment powers

Roland J. Meyer, Rolling Meadows mayor, will seek an opinion from City Atty. Donald Rose to decide if he has authority to appoint a committee to search for a new city manager.

"At present, I believe it is my authority to appoint committees. But, I don't know and rather than do the wrong thing, I will ask for a legal opinion," Meyer said.

"I have asked attorney Rose to research the state statutes as they apply to our new status after Saturday's referendum," he said.

"THE ALDERMEN have said they want to begin looking for a city manager, but I don't know how the committee that will conduct the selection process is to be set up. Do they appoint a committee by council resolution or do I set up a special committee or hand it over to one of the standing committees?" Meyer asked.

Meyer said he expects Rose to have an opinion by the council meeting of June 22.

Vote totals from the referendum, which established a strong city manager form of government while retaining aldermanic representation by ward, are expected to be canvassed that night.

Selection of the manager now rests with the city council, according to Rose. However, Meyer said he will continue to hold a veto power in the selection process.

THE COUNCIL conducted a managerial search earlier this year to replace James Watson, who resigned the post in October. However, Meyer

It's Carter on 1st ballot: survey

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter.

The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

High School Dist. 214

Tom Choie, a junior at Rolling Meadows High School is attending the American Legion Premier Boys State through Saturday at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

Boys State is a compressed course in practical civics. Its purpose is to develop constructive attitudes toward the American form of government.

The Premier Boys State is regarded as a mythical 51st state. Its government is patterned after the Constitution and the statutes of the State of Illinois. The boys are placed in mythical cities and counties and assigned to "Federalist" or "Nationalist" parties. City, county and state officials are elected and instructed in the duties of their offices. In citizenship practice sessions, the officials administer the functions of government. Choie is sponsored by the Rolling Meadows American Legion Post.

High School Dist. 211

Chuck Bibby, a student at Fremd High School, Palatine, has been selected to attend a Summer Physics Camp at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The June 27-July 2 camp is designed for high school seniors who have completed one year of chemistry or one year of physics and who are interested in expanding their understanding of science by being exposed to some fields of physics not covered by the usual high school courses.

The students will be divided into small groups to study each day with a different member of UW-Whitewater physics faculty in areas of analysis of light, holography, nuclear measurements, physics in the life sciences and using computers in physics.

The selling of 4,000 cases of grapefruit and oranges netting $7,100 has enabled 88 members of the Fremd High School Viking Marching Band and 10 chaperones to participate in "America on Parade" at Disney World.

The Fremd Instrumental Assn. raised the funds for the trip by selling fruit, sponsoring a car wash, and benefit days at Dominick's and Jewel food stores. The band left at 2 p.m. Friday from the school parking lot, Quentín and Illinois Ave., and will return at 3 p.m. Thursday, with a complimentary gift of oranges and grapefruit.

Attendance area change approved

A change in high school attendance boundaries for a small area of Buffalo Grove has been approved by the High School Dist. 24 Board of Education.

Students from the area, bounded on the east by Buffalo Grove Road, on the north by Dundee Road, on the west by Three States Boulevard and on the south by University Drive, now attend Wheeling High School. Monday, however, the board agreed to place the area within the Buffalo Grove High School attendance boundary.

Students from the area now attending Wheeling High School will be allowed to continue at the school if they wish. Students who will be freshmen next fall also will be allowed to attend Wheeling High. Other area students who wish to attend Wheeling High must seek approval of the administration. About 20 high school students now live in the area with four to six students at each grade level.

The change is the result of the completion of Buffalo Grove Road and the decision by Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 earlier this year to reassign students in the area from London Junior High School to Cooper Junior High School. Dist. 214 in the past has attempted to adjust boundaries so that students from one junior high school attend the same area high school.

5% pay hike for aides OK'd

Administrators in High School Dist. 214 will receive an average raise in salary of about 5 per cent for the 1976-77 school year.

The board of education Monday approved the distribution of about $150,000 among the district's 109 administrators. The distribution of the monies is based on merit and position on the salary scale in the six administrative categories. The average raise will be about 5 per cent.

Frosh must have physicals

No freshmen will be allowed to attend classes in Dist. 214 next fall without a physical examination and necessary immunizations.

Students must meet the health requirements at the time of registration for classes. Registration begins the week of Aug. 16.

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 39-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said.

Meyer said Tuesday if Rose says he has power to designate a manager search committee, he may ask the finance committee to accept the task.

"On the other hand, I could set up a special committee or ask the council what they want, or pull names out of a hat," Meyer said.

Family Day June 26 to note Bicentennial

A Bicentennial Family Day at the park is planned for June 26 by the Plum Grove Countryside Park District.

Carl Grayson, WGN radio personality, will be master of ceremonies for the program that will include two puppet shows, a magician and clown performances.

Family day will be from 1 to 5 p.m. and is free to all residents of the Plum Grove Park District. In addition to the entertainment, free ice cream will be served.

The Paul Wittenmyer Dixieland band also will perform.

The park is located at Euclid Avenue and Hoover Street.

der," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Seniors' unit money on line today

by JUDIE BLACK

More ill and housebound senior citizens in Palatine Township will be served next year if a grant request for $9,500 from Cook County is approved today for the Palatine Township Senior Citizens Council.

The Suburban Cook County Agency on Aging has called a special meeting before its regular meeting today to discuss the Palatine grant.

If approved, the grant would pay for operating the seniors' 20-seat bus. The $9,500 appropriated in the budget for operating the bus then would be used for enlarging a home-delivered meals program now serving only three persons in the township, Louise Robertson, council director, told township auditors earlier this week.

Much of the $9,500 would pay the salary of "an outreach person" who would contact possibly eligible persons in the township who have not known of the home-delivered meals program.

"YOU CAN'T just go to someone's house, knock on the door and say you want to offer food," Mrs. Robertson said. "Most seniors are very proud people."

The township offers a meals program which is self-supporting and depends heavily on volunteer drivers who donate their time, transportation and gasoline to deliver one or two meals to the senior clients, Monday through Friday.

Such a program would cost the township $800 a year to operate (cost of food excluded), if volunteers weren't used, Mrs. Robertson said, but it was money "we couldn't find in our budget."

Only three persons in Palatine Township now receive home-delivered meals, although an updated 1974 census by the Suburban Cook County Area Agency on Aging showed 3,920 persons 60 years or older live in the township.

by SCOTT L. HAMILTON

If public works directors of the Northwest suburbs have their way, residents will be able to water their lawns only on Thursdays and Sunday — and face a fine up to $500 for violation of the sprinkling ban.

Public works directors from four Northwest suburbs met in Arlington Heights Tuesday and agreed to recommend Thursday to the 16 suburbs in the Northwest Municipal Conference that a regional sprinkling ban be enacted limiting sprinkling to Thursday and Sunday.

Rolling Meadows already has enacted such a ban.

If the conference approves, as is expected, the member village boards and city councils will receive the recommendation for their approval at their next meetings.

GENE WILLROTH, director of the Arlington Heights Public Works Dept., said he expects 13 of the 16 conference members to adopt the ban. He expects Des Plaines, Niles and Park Ridge, which get water from Lake Michigan, to balk at the plan.

"There are 33 communities in north-usage by 1 million gallons a day in the last five years," Willroth said. "This (sprinkling) is the culprit. The biggest problem is sprinkling."

Willroth said the ban is designed at water conservation for the entire northwest area and it must be approached on a regional basis.

Richard Martin, Rolling Meadows Public Works director, said the water table for the Northwest area is dropping, putting all the suburbs in a squeeze, forcing emergency measures to be put into effect during long periods of no rain.

NOTING THAT sprinkling fines currently are small, Martin said, "I'd pay a $5 or $10 fine to sprinkle because I've got more than that tied up in my lawn."

"That's why I put it to $500," said Willroth, who prepared the ordinance, based on the existing ordinance in Arlington Heights, but which has only a $25 fine. "The first offense probably will be a $10 fine plus court costs. The second offense should be a mandatory $100 fine."

Most bans now limit sprinkling to odd numbered houses sprinkling on odd and even numbered houses sprinkling on even days. In recommending a more strict ban, Martin noted the water tables for wells in Rolling Meadows have dropped 60 feet. Willroth said his wells have been pumping an average of 2.2 million gallons per day over June 1975. David Creamer and William Davis, directors of the Mount Prospect and Buffalo Grove public works departments, reported similar problems.

Creamer said the cities may have to hire a "water warden" to enforce the ban, relieving police of the enforcement.

THE GOAL of the ban is to conserve 5.5 million gallons of water per day. The 16 towns in the conference currently pump 55 million gallons per day, and village officials fear that amount of usage will deplete the water supply.

The only long range solution to the problem, Willroth said, is to tap Lake Michigan water.

"The problem isn't going to go away," Willroth said. "It's a matter of when we run out. We're going to have to stretch this water until we can get a Lake Michigan tap."

$9,500 on line today

Seniors' unit expansion hinges on county grant

by JUDIE BLACK

More ill and housebound senior citizens in Palatine Township will be served next year if a grant request for $9,500 from Cook County is approved today for the Palatine Township Senior Citizens Council.

The Suburban Cook County Agency on Aging has called a special meeting before its regular meeting today to discuss the Palatine grant.

If approved, the grant would pay for operating the seniors' 20-seat bus. The $9,500 appropriated in the budget for operating the bus then would be used for enlarging a home-delivered meals program now serving only three persons in the township, Louise Robertson, council director, told township auditors earlier this week.

Much of the $9,500 would pay the salary of "an outreach person" who would contact possibly eligible persons in the township who have not known of the home-delivered meals program.

"YOU CAN'T just go to someone's house, knock on the door and say you want to offer food," Mrs. Robertson said. "Most seniors are very proud people."

The township offers a meals program which is self-supporting and depends heavily on volunteer drivers who donate their time, transportation and gasoline to deliver one or two meals to the senior clients, Monday through Friday.

Such a program would cost the township $800 a year to operate (cost of food excluded), if volunteers weren't used, Mrs. Robertson said, but it was money "we couldn't find in our budget."

Only three persons in Palatine Township now receive home-delivered meals, although an updated 1974 census by the Suburban Cook County Area Agency on Aging showed 3,920 persons 60 years or older live in the township.

"IT'S BEEN our dream to enlarge the program ever since we started it," Mrs. Robertson said last month. "But we just don't have the money."

Township Auditor Don Bellm questioned Mrs. Robertson at a meeting earlier this week on why a home-delivered meals program had not been included in the council's funding request of $23,000 for fiscal 1976-77. Mrs. Robertson said the council's executive committee had been "afraid" to include such a program because it would increase the budget request.

"Maybe we should be more concerned with helping starving people than planning social events," Bellm said.

"Whether we use the existing senior citizens center or set up something entirely different, we'll get the job (of feeding hungry seniors) done," Bellm said Tuesday.

A RECENT report issued by the Chicago Council on Community Services showed about 3 per cent of the elderly in Chicago's suburbs (those 60 and older) or about 10,000 persons, cannot fix their own food and need home-delivered meals.

About 16 per cent of those persons 65 and older in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties live alone or not with relatives and have serious mobility problems. These people are ripe for improper or insufficient diet, according to directors of several home-delivered meals programs.

Mrs. Robertson said a meals program for housebound or ill seniors would "be wonderful," but told the township board the council "must also provide diversions for seniors who have no other place to go but the center, to meet friends, to get out."

Since its beginning two years ago, the seniors council has organized many shopping trips, cultural excursions and trips, including visits to area shopping centers, theaters, museums and European tours.

'Magic number' passed for Carter nomination

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,523 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter.

The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 893, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois, Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support (Continued on Page 3)

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on in it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

High School Dist. 214

Tom Choice, a junior at Rolling Meadows High School is attending the American Legion Premier Boys State through Saturday at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

Boys State is a compressed course in practical civics. Its purpose is to develop constructive attitudes toward the American form of government.

The Premier Boys State is regarded as a mythical 51st state. Its government is patterned after the Constitution and the statutes of the State of Illinois. The boys are placed in mythical cities and counties and assigned to "Federalist" or "Nationalist" parties. City, county and state officials are elected and instructed in the duties of their offices. In citizenship practice sessions, the officials administer the functions of government. Choice is sponsored by the Rolling Meadows American Legion Post.

High School Dist. 211

Chuck Bibby, a student at Fremd High School, Palatine, has been selected to attend a Summer Physics Camp at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The June 22-27 camp is designed for high school seniors who have completed one year of chemistry or one year of physics and who are interested in expanding their understanding of science by being exposed to some fields of physics not covered by the usual high school courses.

The students will be divided into small groups to study each day with a different member of UW-Whitewater physics faculty in areas of analysis of light, holography, nuclear measurements, physics in the life sciences and using computers in physics.

The selling of 4,000 cases of grapefruit and oranges netting $7,100 has enabled 88 members of the Fremd High School Viking Marching Band and 10 chaperones to participate in "America on Parade" at Disney World.

The Fremd Instrumental Assn. raised the funds for the trip by selling fruit, sponsoring a car wash, and benefit days at Dommick's and Jewel food stores. The band left at 2 p.m. Friday from the school parking lot, Quentin and Illinois Ave., and will return at 3 p.m. Thursday, with a complimentary gift of oranges and grapefruit.

Grand jury to investigate cafe, theater bombings

The Cook County Grand Jury will investigate the recent rash of bombings of suburban restaurants and the Arlington Park Theatre.

Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey said Tuesday the grand jury will "try to pin down a definite motive and pattern" of blasts that rocked the Pickwick House restaurant 10 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, LeGourmet Restaurant, 500 Rand Rd., Wheeling Township, and the Arlington Park Theatre, part of the Arlington Park Race Track Hilton Hotel complex in Arlington Heights.

Two other suburban restaurants, in Lisle and Bridgeview, were bombed in the early morning hours of May 12 about 90 minutes before the Pickwick House blast.

In March, LeGourmet was hit by a pipebomb that damaged walls, ceiling and furniture.

ABOUT A month later the theater, then plagued with management troubles, was the scene of a bombing that destroyed a light control panel. Investigators said there was evidence that the hanging ceiling of the theater was sabotaged and a fire had been set, but failed to spread.

Carey said "hard evidence" turned up by his office and other investigating agencies is "enough to start this investigation."

The investigation will attempt to determine what role, if any, organized crime elements had in the attacks.

In Buffalo Grove woman's death

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK

Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."

The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference

Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.

"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Village crackdown planned

Printout to list car tag violators

Palatine motorists who thought they could save $6 by not purchasing a village vehicle sticker should beware of the long arm of the law.

The village board this week approved the expenditure of $1,500 to obtain a computerized printout which will match license plate numbers to street addresses. The village then can go through its records to determine which residents have not purchased vehicle stickers.

Village Mgr. Anton H. Harwig said the village has about 14,000 stickered cars and trucks but he believes the check can turn up an estimated 300 vehicles that do not have village stickers.

Harwig said the village will use the printout to crack down on motorists who have not purchased stickers. He said the printout will be available in about three weeks and will enable the village to begin enforcing the vehicle sticker ordinance.

Those persons who fail to purchase stickers will be fined, Harwig said.

He said the allocation for the printout is worthwhile because it will be a one-time expense for the village. "I don't think it will be a losing proposition," he said.

Village stickers are available at the village hall, 54 S. Brockway St.

Inverness police now at 381-2141

Police have implemented an administrative, nonemergency telephone number, 381-2141, for Barrington and Inverness.

Police said the number for emergency calls, 381-2131, will remain the same. Under the new system, emergency calls will continue to go directly to the Barrington police communications center.

In proposed ethics ordinance

Three trustees oppose income disclose clause

Three village trustees have voiced opposition to the inclusion of an income disclosure clause in a proposed Mount Prospect ethics ordinance.

Judiciary committee members Theodore J. Wattenberg, Leo Floros and Michael H. Minton said they would not disclose their annual incomes and that a mandatory provision calling for elected officials to do so is unnecessary.

Mayor Robert D. Teichert, in his state of the village address last May, asked the judiciary committee to consider updating the current conflict of interest ordinance, which has been in effect since September 1963. The ordinance contains no income disclosure clause. Teichert has said, however, "We have to instill public confidence."

TEICHERT IS THE only elected official who voluntarily has filed his income returns with the village clerk this year. He has reported his total gross income at $36,467.82.

"I see no reason for including a mandatory provision for filing state and federal taxes," Minton said.

Floros said he would be willing to show privately his income tax returns to anyone wishing to see them. "But I don't want it published," he said.

Judiciary Committee chairman Wattenberg, opposed to a new ethics ordinance, said disclosing income tax returns is "irrelevant to anyone doing business as a public official."

THE PROPOSED ordinance, drafted last month by Village Atty. John J. Zimmermann, is patterned after one in Wheeling.

Zimmermann said it is an "amplification" of the old ordinance, stipulating that all public officials must file additional disclosure statements if they or members of their immediate families:

- Own interest in real property within the village; other than their principal residences.

- Own 5 per cent or more in a business.

- Are indebted to a person or business in excess of $5,000 or 25 per cent of their annual income.

- Have given gifts exceeding $50 to a person or business engaged in business with the village.

- Have received gifts exceeding $50 from a person or business doing business with the village.

PUBLIC OFFICIAL IS defined in the document as, "Any person who seeks to be elected or is elected to any public office in the Village of Mount Prospect government, or is appointed as a member of any board, committee, commission, subcommittee or department of the Village of Mount Prospect."

"I agree with the spirit of the ordinance," Minton said. He added, however, it could affect adversely a high percentage of appointed officials, many of whom do business with the village.

Wattenberg said the present ethics ordinance is adequate. "Since 1968, we have had Watergate and it became a fad for villages to outdo themselves with new ethics ordinances," he said. "I want no new law which could complicate things. I think we're adequately protected. We can all sleep safely."

Floros said the proposed ordinance does not "bother" him as much as it apparently does his colleagues. "The one element I've been opposed to is disclosure of income tax returns," he said. "Unless I'm compelled by law, I don't intend to."

Body of Prospect Heights man found in New York

The body of an 18-year-old Prospect Heights man, reported missing since mid-April after a canoeing accident in upper New York state, was found Monday.

The body of Michael P. Caruso, 206 N. Elm St., was discovered about one mile below the Raquette River Falls and rapids where the senior at Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, was first reported missing.

Caruso and Leon Nelson Blair III, 18, of Lancaster, Pa., were on a 44-mile canoe trip up the river to Tupper Lake when their boat capsized.

New York State Police said a caretaker of the Raquette River Falls conservation headquarters discovered the body late Monday.

STATE POLICE identified the body using dental x-rays that were supplied by the Caruso family dentist. Caruso is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Caruso.

Forest rangers and state police had searched continually along the river, which is part of the Adirondack State Park, since the accident.

Authorities initially were alerted to the mishap when Blair was discovered in a cabin on the shores of the river.

Blair, apparently washed ashore, wandered in the woods for five days before breaking into the cabin in search of food, state police officials said.

BLAIR TOLD police that his canoe overturned April 19 while the youths were sunbathing in the bottom of the boat, which was floating down the river. They were unaware of the rapids.

Blair, who was unarmed, said he last saw Caruso holding on to the side of the canoe and heading into the rapids.

The Raquette River is an area of preserved wilderness that can be reached only by canoe.

'Magic number' passed for Carter nomination

by United Press International

Just one week after the end of the 1976 presidential primaries, Jimmy Carter had more than the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, a UPI survey showed Tuesday. On the Republican side, President Ford remained 121 votes short of nomination on a first ballot.

The survey showed 1,525 delegates were committed or leaning to Carter.

The count did not include hundreds of potential Carter delegates in New York, New Jersey and other states where party leaders have said there will be a move toward the Carter bandwagon in coming days.

Despite every indication that Carter had the nomination locked up, his two closest rivals, Morris Udall and Edmund G. Brown Jr., remained in the race. The poll showed Udall with 335 delegates and Brown with 265.

In the tight Republican race, President Ford had 1,009 of the 1,130 delegates needed to win the nomination and challenger Ronald Reagan had 883, with 98 uncommitted.

The survey showed the Ford-Reagan battle would go down to the wire, with state conventions to pick the remaining 258 GOP delegates playing a crucial role.

Carter went over the top with a boost from large blocs of delegates previously uncommitted or pledged to other candidate in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, plus a handful from Illinois' Tennessee, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, Alabama and Louisiana.

While most Democratic delegates contacted were throwing their support

This Mary Hartman not like TV namesake

by PAT GERLACH

Neil is the important man in Mary Hartman's life, though the American television audience probably will never meet him.

The 32-year-old Schaumburg woman, who has been Mary Hartman long before Norman Lear's popular television soap opera spoof began, said she has never been plagued with the identity crises that beset her famous namesake.

And Mrs. Neil Hartman could care less about "yellow waxy build-up" even if she didn't have a no-wax kitchen floor.

BUT, SHE SAYS she is really having fun with her name these days.

Today

"The other Mary Hartman has really changed my life a lot. People I normally wouldn't talk to come up and start conversations, especially in the supermarket when I have cashed a check and gotten a couple of quiet smirks or a wisecrack," she said.

And she said friends of her children, Mary, 8, ("very honestly, we were seriously thinking of naming her Heather"), and Robbie, 7, think it's "neat" to know someone whose name is really Mary Hartman.

The only problem she has had with her newfound fame came when she attempted to order some records by telephone.

"I GAVE THE man the necessary information, then he asked my name, and from there on it was disaster. I got a sarcastic 'yeah, lady, and I'm the man in the moon' before he hung up."

But, by and large, the Mary Hartman who was born Mary Moore, is enjoying the local notoriety, even the good natured ribbing she takes from the principal at her children's school.

"It's kind of funny, though, I sometimes find myself wondering if people take me seriously or somehow relate me to the television character," she said.

Mrs. Hartman admits she and her husband watch the show regularly, though they began following it "strictly out of curiosity."

"I DON'T agree with Norman Lear's ultra-liberal political philosophy but I like what he has done with the bigotry issue and other things that have been traditional TV taboos. The exposure he has given these things tends to make us realize how silly they really are," she said.

But how similar are the two Mary Hartmans? "Not alike at all, I'm afraid, only that we are both Aries, her birthday being April 8 and mine April 18. I think that's where it pretty much ends," said Schaumburg's Mary.

How about the other question people always ask? "Yes, I have a sister, Patty. She doesn't have an overbite, though."

Schaumburg's Mary says she is a "jack of all trades" who enjoys crafts, and sewing. "I don't have as much time to sew as I'd like. No, I've never made a wrap-around dress with puffy sleeves, but I sometimes put my hair in two pony tails when I'm working in the house."

She is active in PTA and has helped with a 4th grade junior great books class at Dooley School.

Mary said her parents, who live in Virginia, have never mentioned TV's Mary Hartman. "I wonder if they have ever seen the show," she mused.

In Buffalo Grove woman's death

Carpenter charged with murder

by JOHN N. FRANK
Police Monday charged Marion Logan, a 30-year-old Chicago carpenter, with the murder of Phyllis Anderson of Buffalo Grove and the wounding of her husband, Leo.

Mrs. Anderson's sister, Judy Cornstead, said after the arrest, "I'm very happy that it's all over."
The Andersons, both 51, had been driving home from the Cornsteads' Lansing, Ill. home when they were attacked on the South Side of Chicago Sunday night. Mrs. Anderson was shot in the head and her husband wounded in the neck.

THREE OF THE Andersons' six children, Elizabeth, 16; Janet, 15, and Michael, 13, were slightly injured by flying glass during the shooting, but were not hospitalized. The other three children were not with the family on the trip.

Assistant State's Atty. Robert Smierciak said he will continue to present evidence to a grand jury called in the Anderson slaying today. Smierciak said Logan probably would be arraigned today.

Logan was identified by area residents who witnessed the attack on the Andersons' auto, Chicago police said.

Chicago Police Supt. James Rochford said during a news conference Tuesday that police believe Logan, a black, acted alone in slaying Mrs. Anderson. His action was incited by the racial violence on the South Side Sunday night, Rochford said.

POLICE SAID there were 18 reports Sunday of roving gangs of youths harassing motorists stranded in the area because of heavy rains.
"The evidence indicates he (Logan) was solely responsible for the murder," Rochford said. A .45-caliber pistol was used in the killing, he said.

Logan has been charged with murder, attempted murder and aggravated battery for the shooting of Leo Anderson, who remains in fair condition at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, after undergoing surgery Monday for a neck wound.

Anderson's son-in-law, Kevin O'Hara, said, "I expect a 100 per recovery."

Funeral services for Mrs. Anderson will be today at 10 a.m. at St. Edna's Church in Arlington Heights.

Gifted program before Dist. 23

Implementation of a program for gifted students for the 1976-77 school year will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. today by the Prospect Heights Dist. 23 Board of Education.

Alternative proposals to provide for the education of the district's gifted students were distributed to board members by Assistant Supt. Gerald McGovern last week.

McGovern and the administration had been requested by the board in May to draw up plans for a gifted program that would provide the most services for the least amount of district funds.

The board was informed last month that the district had cut back on training teachers to instruct gifted children when state funding for the gifted program was cut in October.

Board members said they mitted to a district gifted program and wanted to consider some alternatives the district could afford.

The meeting will be held at the district office, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights.

Village annexes 57-acre tract for 2nd time

A 57-acre parcel bounded by Euclid Avenue, Randhurst Shopping Center and Wheeling and Kensington roads Tuesday was annexed to Mount Prospect.

There had been some discrepancy last month when the village board unanimously voted to annex that same area, comprised of 519 housing units, because the Illinois Dept. of Transportation was not properly notified by the village legal department.

By state law, IDOT and the local fire department must be notified prior to any annexation. Village Mgr. Robert J. Epley said there had been a "legal defect" voiding the May annexation. The board's action Tuesday, however, made the annexation official because Epley had confirmed IDOT's notification of the property involved.

There has not been a census taken of how many residents live in that neighborhood. Multi-family housing units and small businesses comprise most of the area.

The board further expanded the amount of property within the village's limits by:

- Annexing the north half of Euclid Avenue adjacent to Randhurst,
- Annexing the west half of Wheeling Road between Kensington Road and Euclid Avenue, and
- Annexing a piece of property at the southwest corner of Meadow Lane and Westgate Road.

Schools

High School Dist. 214

A memorial scholarship fund has been established in honor of Michael Caruso of Prospect Heights, a former student at Hersey High School. He died in a canoe accident in New York in April.

His family established the scholarship, to be awarded annually to a graduating senior from Hersey in Arlington Heights. The scholarship will be awarded by a committee of faculty members on the basis of intellectual, social and emotional growth during high school.

Contributions to the fund may be sent to the Michael Caruso Memorial Scholarship c/o Robert J. Hannon, Hersey High School, 190 E. Thomas St., Arlington Heights, Ill. 60004.

The North High School Dist. 214 Symphony Orchestra, directed by Bruce Fowler, has been invited to perform at the 30th annual Midwest National Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago in December.

Only three high school orchestras were selected through taped auditions for the clinic, the largest of its type in the United States.

The Dist. 214 orchestra is composed of 81 students from Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Hersey and Wheeling high schools.

Reunions

The 23rd annual Steinmetz High School Alumni Assn. picnic will be held at noon June 27 at the Lake Avenue Woods East, Euclid Road between Milwaukee Avenue and River Road. There will be games for everyone.

The Board of Governors of the association recently elected the following officers for two-year terms: Louis Houkal, president; Earl Herzog, vice president; May Nelson, treasurer; Marge Graham, corresponding secretary; and Carol Machowski, recording secretary.

Choirs blend music, history

Mount Prospect's Bicentennial Church Choir Festival June 13 was truly one of the outstanding events in the local celebration of the nation's 200th year. Ten local church choirs and the Prospect High School band joined together to provide an ecumenical account of the religious music of America.

Martha Hopkins and Charles Jenks co-chaired the production. Ralph Wilder directed the band.

Unfortunately, the extremely hot Sunday afternoon held down the crowd in the non-air-conditioned Prospect Field House. Those who did attend, however, were rewarded for their effort with an exciting and thrilling program.

About 300 singers made up the combined adult choir; 100 youngsters, the children's combined chorus; and 100 young people, the band.

The individual choirs had practiced for the past six months for the production, and their voices blended together beautifully.

THE HARPER COLLEGE Dental Hygiene Dept. has scheduled a flea market from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at 416 S. Wille St. Proceeds will help finance a student trip to the American Dental Assn. convention in Las Vegas in November.

In case of rain, the flea market will be June 26.

LINDA JOHNSON, 20, of 717 N. Pine St., this summer is a tour guide for a group of six young people who are riding bicycles through southern Sweden. They expect to travel 600 miles during the three-week excursion.

Linda, who is Swedish, will be a senior biology major at North Park College in the fall she planned the trip and advertised it in a national Covenant Church newsletter. Four men and two women responded, ranging from 18 to 35 years old.

The group left New York last week and went directly to Copenhagen. They expect to see all of the usual tourist attractions and plan to visit cheese makers, glass factories, castles and cathedrals.

The cyclists will stay in homes of members of Swedish Covenant churches and also in hostels and camps.

The Americans will be in Sweden for one of the country's big holidays, Midsummer Day, June 26.

THE NATIONAL Fraternal Society of the Deaf, 1300 W. North-west Hwy, marked its 75th anniversary last week by setting up an exhibit of the organization's history. The display will remain at the office throughout the year and may be viewed by visitors.

The organization is an insurance company that serves deaf members and their families.

Bicentennial scrolls

Persons visiting Mount Prospect Plaza, Rand and Central roads, from Thursday through July 4 may sign special scrolls bearing a Bicentennial pledge supporting principles of American freedom.

The program is part of a nationwide effort sponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers, the trade association of the shopping center industry.

Scrolls signed by residents will be presented to local museums. Two scrolls, to be selected at random from those signed at Mount Prospect Plaza, will be presented to the White House as part of a bound volume of scrolls from across the country.
